Some Cuts Missing

Tax Reform by Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP)—Provisions worth about $6.5 billion in either increased benefits or tax cuts appear certain to be missing from the tax reform bill that finally emerges from a House-Senate conference committee.

The 14-member committee has finished most of its work on the measure's reform provisions and hopes to complete action on the rest of the bill by tonight.

In an effort to compromise the differences between the House and Senate versions, and head off a threatened presidential veto, the conferees apparently are set to delete at least nine provisions from the Senate bill while compromising other additions passed by that chamber.

However, the apparently doomed provisions do not include the proposal to increase the personal income tax exemption from $600 to $800. Although opposed by the Nixon administration, this is expected to remain in the bill, probably in reduced and postponed terms, in view of strong support in the House.

Some other provisions enjoy considerable support, but apparently are condemned because of their cost. Even some of their supporters have acknowledged privately they did not expect to see them enacted. They count the favorable Senate votes, however, as a gain that could help advance the proposals in future years.

Among the Senate provisions for which conferees are sharpening their shears are:

—An annual tax credit up to $325 for college expenses. It would cost $1.8 billion a year.

—Full deductions for medical expenses of persons over 65, costing $325 million.

—Deductions for handicapped persons for special cost of getting to work, $90 million.

—A special increase to $100 of the minimum Social Security monthly payments—in addition to the 15 per cent general increase which appears sure of approval. The extra feature would cost $2 billion.

Nixon has said he would veto a bill that provided a 15 per cent boost in Social Security benefits and a $200 increase in the personal exemption.

—A $7.50 a month increase in welfare payments; $150 million.

—Continuation of the investment credit for the first $20,000 of annual investment by a company; $720 million, and continuation of the credit for investments in depressed areas; $70 million.

—Authority for the President to impose import quotas on foreign commodities if they injure U.S. industries and come from countries that discriminate against U.S. goods. President Nixon has said he does not want such power.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., heading the Senate delegation at the conference committee, said there is a good chance work on the measure could be completed tonight.

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., conference chairman and leader of the House group, agreed every effort would be made to finish by tonight.

It was Mills who reported the conferees had virtually finished work on the dozens of reform provisions aimed at loopholes in the tax code.

This was accomplished in three days of lengthy sessions each running into the night hours.

But Mills and other conferees said final decisions had not been made before today on several provisions involving oil income.

Prods Congress on Inflation

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon says his fight against inflation is in danger, but could be rescued if Congress forgets "the cost in political popularity" and cuts down federal spending.

"At stake is nothing less than the future of the American economy," Nixon said in a Dutch-uncle letter sent to House and Senate leaders Wednesday.

The President said his $192.9 billion federal spending ceiling is threatened by $6 billion in rising costs that are beyond his control and added millions dictated by congressional action—and inaction.

The letter, timed to coincide with Congress' efforts to pass a tax reform bill and complete action on appropriation measures for the current fiscal year, also said:

"The responsible path toward protecting the buying power of the consumer's dollar is clear. But the Congress has not appeared willing to take that path."

Nixon coupled his plea for responsibility with a new attack on the tax reform bill, now before a conference committee for long hours each day in an effort to compromise the Senate and House versions.

"The Congress appears to be well on its way to substituting tax reduction for tax reform," he said. "This will harm rather than help the average taxpayer...."

"A tax cut for some citizens would mean a rise in prices for every citizen."

"Inflation—the hole in every body's pocket—is the most unfair tax of all," he said.

Despite the fact that a combination of congressional action and inaction "would load an additional $5 billion onto an already overheated economy," Nixon said, "recent Senate tax actions... would, if approved, actually take $1.6 billion away from revenues."

It is this combination of added spending—such as $1 billion the Senate added Tuesday to the health and education appropriation—and revenue loss written into the tax bill that appeared to disturb Nixon most.

He has said he will veto a bill if it contains both a personal exemption increase from $600 to $800 and a 15 per cent boost in last month's income surtax isn't extended, the 7 per cent investment tax credit isn't repealed and spending goes over the $192.9 billion ceiling.

Although he did not spell it out, the combination he described would total $6.6 billion in lost revenues, which is more than the $5.9 billion budget surplus the Budget Bureau predicts for the fiscal year ending next June.

No one speaking for the administration has specifically predicted a deficit, but a member of the Federal Reserve Board, J. Dewey Daane, said last month a sizable one could occur if the income surtax isn't extended, the 7 per cent investment tax credit isn't repealed and spending goes over the $192.9 billion ceiling.

The surtax and investment credit repeal are in the tax reform bill.

WRAPPING UP—Rep. Wilbur Mills (D-Ark.) chairing the House Ways and Means Committee and chairman of the House-Senate conference, leaves session of the conference. He said the bill might be finished by tonight. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Ten Year War Toll Reaches 1.1 Million

SAIGON (AP) — American battlefield deaths in nine years of the Vietnam war will total more than 40,000 by Jan. 1 if the current rate continues.

The U.S. Command announced today that 85 Americans were killed in action last week, 15 less than the previous week. This raised the number of U.S. battlefield dead since Jan. 1, 1961 to 39,827.

For the past six weeks, the total of U.S. combat dead has averaged about 100, and there is no expectation that this will decrease substantially any time soon.

The U.S. Command also reported 836 Americans wounded in action last week, a sizeable increase over the 592 wounded the week before. A total of 261,256 Americans have now been wounded in the war.

South Vietnamese headquarters said 421 government troops were killed in action last week, 10 more than the week before, and 1,436 government troops were wounded.

A spokesman said South Vietnamese casualties since Jan. 1, 1960, totals 97,541 killed and 216,128 wounded. The U.S. and South Vietnamese commands claimed 2,396 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed last week, a slight drop from the previous week's revised toll of 2,450. The U.S. casualty summary said allied forces now have killed at least 290,000.

Checking back a rundown issued in early September estimated enemy manpower in South Vietnam as of Oct. 25, 1968 ranged between 207,000 and 222,000.

There was no immediate official explanation for the wide variance in the estimates. But it tends to underscore Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird's reluctance to deal publicly in numbers.

It also casts doubt on the Pentagon's new "best estimate" that there were at least 240,000 of the enemy in South Vietnam this fall.

The Pentagon put out the new figures for autumn 1968 and autumn 1969 after Laird, under questioning, by newsmen said Tuesday: "I would estimate that the range of enemy presence in Vietnam is in the neighborhood of at least 40,000 below last year."

In trying to avoid citing specific figures, Laird said "it's not an easy task" to estimate enemy troop strength.

wounded on both sides of the war since Jan. 1, 1960.

It was reported U.S. intelligence misjudged enemy strength in South Vietnam last year by at least 60,000 men.

This conclusion is inescapable after comparing a new official estimate with an earlier calculation of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong manpower for the fall of 1968.

The Pentagon said Wednesday night "revised best estimates of enemy strength in South Vietnam during the fall of 1968 now indicate an enemy force of at least 290,000."

Nothing Gained by Delay

PARIS (AP) — North Vietnam's chief negotiator boycotted the Paris Peace talks for the second straight week today and the United States declared that "there is nothing to be gained by delay."

The statement appeared to be a reply, if indirect, to the absence of North Vietnamese Ambassador Xuan Thuy from the talks. He was replaced at the 47th plenary session by his deputy, Col. Ha Van Lau, who accused the Nixon administration of downgrading and "sabotaging the conference."

Habib, who replaced Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge two weeks ago, underscored President Nixon's statement that "our delegation at these meetings has full authority to discuss any proposal that will contribute to a just peace."

Ambassador Philip C. Habib told the other side: "It is time for you to join us in serious negotiations. There is nothing to be gained by delay. If your side is willing to talk seriously, you will find us flexible and forthcoming."

Habib, who replaced Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge two weeks ago, underscored President Nixon's statement that "our delegation at these meetings has full authority to discuss any proposal that will contribute to a just peace."

"We would like to know" he said "whether you also have a concrete proposal for the withdrawal of North Vietnamese forces that you have sent to South Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos."

"We cannot consider your call for a withdrawal of American forces a serious proposal for negotiations unless it is accompanied by an equally specific indication that your side is prepared to withdraw North Vietnamese troops."

Habib took the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong to task for "your refusal to enter into genuine discussions with all the parties, as well as your refusal to consider mutual action."

Col. Lau said Nixon "reiterates his old talk about 'negotiation from a position of strength.' ... refuses to appoint a new head of the U.S. delegation, deliberately downgrades the Paris conference on Vietnam, and carries out his scheme of sabotaging the conference."

Gas Fumes Fell City Firemen

By WALTER S. CLARK

KINGSTON

Three uniformed firemen were listed in fair condition today at Benedictine Hospital where they were under treatment for poisonous gas fumes that felled them at the Ace Transmission Center, Inc., at 229 Greenkill Avenue.

Overcome by phenol fumes from a cleaning fluid tank in the building were Deputy Chief Harry Sills and firefighters William Schwerdtfeger and Robert Priest.

One Given Oxygen

Schwerdtfeger was administered oxygen at the scene by attendants from Doctors

Ambulance Service before he was rushed to Kingston Hospital for emergency treatment. Police took Deputy Sills and Priest to the hospital. Later Doctors Ambulance transferred the three firemen to Benedictine Hospital.

According to fire officials, a telephone call was received at Central Station at 10:55 p.m. Wednesday, reporting smoke coming from the Gulf Boulevard Service Station. On arrival firemen from Engines 1 and 2 and Truck 2 discovered there was no fire but heavy fumes were pouring from the building occupied by the transmission company owned by Fred Kent of Tillson.

Firefighters forced open the rear and front overhead doors. Inside they found a penotene gas tank with a heater under it, emitting phenol fumes.

Within minutes Sills and the two uniformed firemen were felled by the poisonous fumes and they were taken from the building and administered first aid.

The building was ventilated by natural means and internal fans, officials said. The cause of the leaking fumes was listed as due to overheated chemicals.

Four Are Recalled

Deputy Chief Hugh Greer, Captain Robert Schatzel, and Firemen John Hammersley, John Heybruck were recalled to duty to take the place of the men who were hospitalized.

Earlier last night Wawarsing

Sixteen firefighters assisted at fire units in charge of Chief

Glen Quick and Deputy Chief Reuben Markowitz responded to an alarm at 8:10 after fire was reported at the Gordon Van Etten residence on Route 209.

On arrival, firemen found flames in a second floor bedroom in the front of the house. Chief Quick said the fire was confined to the room and furnishings and he reported little water damage. The cause of the blaze was not determined.

The owner of the house reportedly discovered smoke on returning to his home and summoned firemen who reported back in service at 9:41 p.m.

Sixteen firefighters assisted at the scene.

NO SUCH THING—The Air Force has called off its 21-year-old investigation of flying saucers. Air Force Secretary Robert C. # 2 County Railmen Injured

ALBANY Medical Center Hospital were Two Penn Central Railroad employees, both residents of Ulster County, were injured Wednesday night when the last three cars of a short-haul freight train jumped the tracks in the Town of Bethlehem.

Injured and taken to Albany Medical Center Hospital were Clifford R. Kline, 46, of Hurley, a conductor, and Harold Kellerman, 45, a flagman, of 33 Abeel Street, Kingston. State Police said the injuries did not appear to be serious.

Were in Caboose Investigators said the men were riding in a caboose at the time of the derailment. State Police reported the accident was apparently caused when the track bed gave way. Two tank cars riding just ahead of the caboose derailed and ruptured, spilling oil into a culvert, authorities said. Firemen washed down the area but said there was no hazard. Police said, "the railroad would have quite a clean-up job ahead."

The 16-car train was hauling freight from the Port of Albany to the Penn Central's Selkirk yard, when the accident occurred at the Beaver Road crossing.

Dr. Arnold Answers Charges

SAUGERTIES Superintendent, Dr. Dexter O. Arnold, in a statement outlined background and answered charges made in the recent resignation of Dr. Robert Valachovic, school psychologist.

"This controversy began when it was discovered that under the salary schedule under consideration during contract negotiations with the teachers last July, Dr. Valachovic would automatically receive a salary increase of $2,144, the highest of any employee of the district including all administrators," Dr. Arnold said.

"As the school psychologist is employed for only a 10-month period of 185 working days, the increase was recognized as being out of line. The Education Board's negotiators were instructed to seek either a reduction in ratio or a change in the doctoral tract of the salary schedule. At the end of negotiations the board was informed that the ratio had been changed from 1.33 to 1.23 giving the psychologist a $851 salary increase. His salary was $15,051 and under the new schedule $15,901."

"In Dr. Valachovic's grievance conference on Sept. 23, he alleged that the district acted in an unethical and unprofessional manner in reducing his salary ratio from 1.33 to 1.23. He also alleged that the method used to notify him of his salary reduction, a memo from the superintendent, was also unethical and unprofessional. His grievance was denied and on the same day Dr. Valachovic filed an appeal. On Oct. 2, the appeal was denied by Dr. Arnold. Dr. Valachovic then appealed the superintendent's decision to the Board of Education.

"The hearing on Oct. 20 brought out that Dr. Valachovic had decided to resign and again made his accusations against the superintendent and the Board of Education. At that time Saugerties Teachers Association submitted a document signed by the members of the negotiating team stating that the subject of Dr. Valachovic's salary ratio had never been discussed by them with the district's team at any negotiation session. Representing the teachers at the hearing were Herman Wilcox, Graham Barkhoff, Mrs. Valachovic and Thomas Zulick.

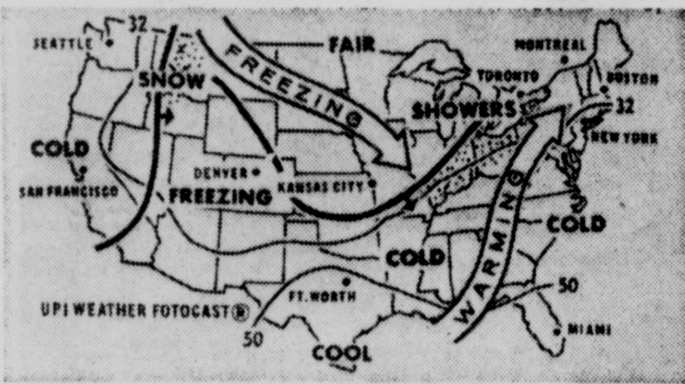

"The board is sympathetic to the position that Dr. Valachovic finds himself in and understands the circumstances under which it arose. By virtue of the Taylor Law and recognition granted by the district to Saugerties Teachers Association, the question of salary is one which the district can only discuss with the Teachers Association and its representatives, and not with individual teachers or staff members. The board has no power or authority to notify Dr. Valachovic of any reduction or increase in his salary or salary ratio. Notification must come from the Teachers Association," the statement noted.

In regard to the document submitted by the Teachers Association, Dr. Arnold continued, "the board has been informed by its chief negotiator, Raymond G. Kuntz, that the subject of Dr. Valachovic's salary ratio had been discussed with Richard Rowley, chief negotiator for the teachers, and Rowley was told that acceptance of the final salary demands would necessitate a reduction of the psychologist's salary ratio. Kuntz also informed the board that after the start of Dr. Valachovic's grievance, he had a telephone conversation with Rowley in which Rowley admitted discussing the subject of Dr. Valachovic's ratio.

"The board is convinced that the subject of the salary ratio was discussed and agrees that he should have been told of the ratio reduction prior to the signing of the contract. However, under the law only the Teachers Association can communicate with individual teachers about salary negotiation. Dr. Valachovic has addressed his grievance to the wrong party. The grievance should have been directed to the Teachers Association. The grievance is denied," the statement concluded.

Dr. Valachovic in his resignation released to the news media Tuesday by the Saugerties Teachers Association revealed that he had filed a petition for a grievance hearing with State Commissioner of Education Ewald B. Nyquist.

The Teachers Association in its Tuesday statement said it is in total agreement with Dr. Valachovic and stands firmly behind him in his grievance action.

Morgenthau Ouster Splits GOP, Nixon

INDICTED MAYOR LEAVES COURT
(UPI TELEPHOTO)

NEW YORK (AP) — U.S. the post for almost a decade, Atty. Robert M. Morgenthau said he would consider whether Nixon's announcement had undermined his effectiveness and interest in not replacing the incumbent at this time," they said.

U.S. attorneys customarily submit their resignations when a new president takes office, regardless of the expiration date of their terms.

Morgenthau, 50, the son of Henry Morgenthau Jr., who was secretary of the treasury under President Franklin D. Roosevelt, has declined to do so, citing pending investigation.

"My decision to stay on as a United States attorney after the change in administrations and until the expiration of my four-year term in June 1971 was prompted by my firm belief that I had an obligation and a commitment to complete major cases and investigations in which my staff and I had worked for years," he said Wednesday.

"We presently have investigations and cases involving corruption on all levels of local, state and federal government, the illegal use of foreign bank accounts by prominent individuals in the business and financial community, consumer frauds victimizing the poor, labor racketeering, narcotics distribution and 'white collar' organized crime."

Morgenthau was appointed by President John F. Kennedy in 1961 and resigned in 1962 to run for governor against incumbent Republican Nelson A. Rockefeller. After his defeat, he was reappointed by President Kennedy and given a second four-year term by President Johnson in 1967.

Rockefeller, vacationing in Puerto Rico, issued a statement praising Seymour but adding: "I have not felt that the public interest would be served by Mr. Morgenthau's displacement at this time, and I have so expressed myself to the party leadership."

Seymour, who said he was first notified last July that he had been picked for the $38,000-a-year post, said he had assured Morgenthau that "major cases pending would be carried through to their conclusion in the most effective possible way."

Seymour, 46, was an assistant in the Southern District during the Eisenhower administration, serving as part of the team that prosecuted Frank Costello for income tax evasion.

He served two terms in the state Senate and last year became the first Republican in 30 years to lose a race in the 18th—or "Silk Stocking"—Congressional District on New York's East Side.

Our Day Will Come---Addonizio

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI) — Charged with extortion, conspiracy and income tax evasion, Newark Mayor Hugh J. Addonizio left federal court under $25,000 bail Wednesday to return to his office to conduct the city's business. "We will have our day in court," he said.

The mayor and 14 other persons—including three city councilmen and a reputed Mafia figure—were charged Wednesday with tax evasion and conspiracy in an alleged $253,000 extortion plot. Actions federal grand jury actions followed by a day the indictments of 55 persons on conspiracy and gambling charges in a widespread probe of organized crime and government corruption in New Jersey.

The 15 were charged with 65 counts of extorting payments of $500 to $7,000 from the Constrand, Inc., an engineering firm doing business with the city. Paul Rigo, an officer of the firm, was reported to be an informer in the investigation.

Twelve of the defendants, who included five former city councilmen, were charged with income tax evasion. Among those indicated were reputed Mafia figure Anthony "Tony Boy" Boiardo; Frank Addonizio, a councilman and distant cousin of the mayor; Municipal Court Judge Anthony Guiliano; Newark Wednesday. Assistant when he refused to answer questions before the grand jury last week. Stern replied: "The grand jury having just indicted him," and newsmen jumped.

Stern had not yet ruled whether the mayor had used Mitchell formally announced in the Fifth Amendment properly the indictments in Washington.

U.S. Attorney Herbert J. Stern, Philip E. Gordon, who resigned handed Judge Robert Shaw a grand jury having just indicted him," and newsmen jumped.

Crackdown Recommended On Medicaid Frauds, Abuses

ALBANY, N. Y. (UPI) — A New York State legislative committee today recommended a crackdown on widespread Medicaid frauds and abuses that drain $60 million a year from the state's $1 billion Medicaid assistance program.

The joint legislative committee on public health, headed by Sen. Norman F. Lent, R-East, said a six-month study found "substantial reason" to impose some pre-treatment review of care provided by doctors and dentists. Strong evidence of "unacceptable" practices, he said, included the rendering of bills for services not performed, unnecessary procedures and tests, unnecessary referral of patients to several specialists, altering prescriptions, "shorting" of drugs by pharmacists, inadequate examinations and inferior dental work.

The committee, in an interim report to the legislature, called for a unified statewide system of audit based on New York City's "medicaid watchdog system."

The senator said he is preparing legislation to impose penalties for intentionally falsifying claims or padding bills. Persons who receive Medicaid benefits would also be liable for giving false information in order to obtain benefits.

The State Social Services Department and the State Health Department share responsibility for the Medicaid program. This approach has been criticized.

Other legislation the committee is considering: —Repeal of the 20 per cent for preparing and supervising insurance amendment to the administration of the plan and Medicaid law under which patients pay the first 20 per cent of bills. The Health Department establishes standards of medical care and health services and sees that the standards are maintained.

In the administration of these dual programs, confusion has arisen as to the interpretation of regulations, the proper allocation of supervisory functions, and the responsibility of some personnel," the report cases die.

The committee suggested the use of DDT and other semiconducting hydrocarbons in household and garden preparations. A ban on commercial use of DDT in dry-cleaning compounds, a ban on agricultural use of DDT and other selected chlorinated hydrocarbon pesticides by Dec. 31, 1970.

Milk and Honey For Tiny and Vicki

NEW YORK (UPI)—Tiny Tim and his teen-age bride were off today on a honeymoon that will introduce them to the rigors of a series of marriage vows that included being "not puffed up."

The sweet singer of falsetto notes wrote practically the entire service himself—particularly the nuptial vows—he disclosed after the ceremony on the NBC "Tonight" show Wednesday night.

The service, read by the Rev. William Glenesk, a New York Presbyterian minister, started with the groom repeating his real name after the pastor: "I, Herbert Buckingham Khaury, being of sound mind . . ."

At a news conference afterwards, the long-tressed singer, rolling his eyes so that heaven seemed to be peeking through them, said: "I put in 'being of sound mind' so everybody will know I know what I am doing."

And as for getting married on television being a bit eccentric: "It doesn't matter where you're married—on television or on the sea—as long as you keep the marriage laws."

Tiny Tim is not an act. He is for real. And after the ceremony his father-in-law, Allan Budinger, a Haddonfield, N.J., art supply dealer, said: "His best feature is sincerity—but I don't think it's appreciated."

Johnny Carson, star of "Tonight," on which Tiny Tim leaped to fame in 18 singular appearances as a singer in a year and a half, was among the notables who attended a post-wedding reception for Khaury and his bride, Victoria May Budinger, 17. Cary Grant was among those who dropped in.

On the show, after the ceremony, the wedded couple drank milk laced with honey while the other guests drank champagne. "This, you know, is the Good Lord's food," Tiny said, explaining he had given them up alcohol since he met "Miss Vicki."

The groom-authored vows included being "sweet, gentle, kind, patient, not puffed up, charitable, slow to anger, and swift to forgive."

Inmate Surrenders, Frees 23 Hostages

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—A maximum security cell at state prison inmate, disgruntled over his failure to get a parole, held 23 persons hostage with a foot-long, homemade dagger Wednesday before releasing them unharmed after five hours.

The prisoner, Haywood Quinn, 34, surrendered after state Corrections Commissioner Lake Russell agreed to his demands, which included cash payments to the hostages for their inconvenience.

Quinn was taken to a parole earlier this year.

'63 Italian Disaster--- Court Convicts Three Men

L'AQUILA, Italy (UPI)—A landslide shoved millions of gallons of water over the top of Vaiont Dam the night of Oct. 9, 1963. In six minutes, the surging wave had swept away 10 alpine villages and killed 2,018 persons.

A court Wednesday night convicted the president of the firm that built the dam, the chairman of the government

Public Works Council and a Pietro Bezzi, Roman Catholic priest of Longarone. "I thought the responsibility of the defendants had been proved." More than 200 survivors had traveled 360 miles to the trial.

Eleven government officials and power company executives who built the 873-foot high dam, at the time the world's third highest, were charged with negligence and involuntary manslaughter. Three died before the trial opened.

The prosecution accused the defendants of choosing the dam site without considering the loose structure of Mt. Toc behind it. The entire side of the mountain fell into the manmade lake behind the dam.

The effect was like hurling a stone into a tea cup. The water level of the lake shot upward and over the lip of the dam, sending tons of water roaring into the valley below.

At least 5,000 lawsuits involving millions of dollars were pending on the outcome of the case.

It took years to determine how many people were killed. The disaster left the Piave Valley nearly barren. The region has yet to recover despite a government program to rebuild Longarone and surrounding villages.

Lawrence Steinberg and Luke McKissack replace the public defender's office as his counsel.

McKissack said Manson's sudden announcement that he would insist on representing himself came as a surprise to the attorneys, who had conferred with him on Tuesday. He asked Keene to appoint him and Steinberg as lawyers of record pending the Dec. 22 hearing, and asked if Manson would agree to that request.

"Well, I think the judge has said what he said, and the judge is the man here," Manson said. When newsmen in the courtroom laughed, Manson joined in the laughter, grinning at spectators.

McKissack, is representing Sirhan in his appeal of his first degree murder conviction for the Robert F. Kennedy assassination.

Superior Court Judge William B. Keene temporarily denied the request and ordered the public defender's office to continue as Manson's counsel pending a Dec. 22 hearing.

Keene said he would question Manson at that time to determine if he is qualified to conduct his own defense.

"I'm competent to stand here and talk to you," Manson, 35, argued.

"That's not the same as being qualified to represent yourself," the judge replied.

Manson had not been scheduled to appear in court again until Dec. 22, but Keene said he gave permission for the brief hearing Wednesday on the understanding that Manson

LADY CLEO, STANLEY WAITING FOR ADOPTION.

SPCA Animals Await Calls For a Home

By WALTER S. CLARK

TOWN OF UESTER
"Have you room in your home for us. You could save our lives."

That is what Lady Cleo and her buddy, Stanley in accompanying photo appear to be saying through the expression indicated by their dreamy eyes.

Lady Cleo and Stanley are pure bred basset hounds, short-legged, slow-moving hunting dogs with long ears, crooked front legs and typical hound coat of black, brown and white.

These dogs are only two of many that are at the Ulster County S.P.C.A. animal shelter on Brabrandt Road, waiting for adoption in good homes. Both were brought to the shelter by their owner, who bought them for hunting and later found they won't hunt. Lady Cleo has been spayed.

A Fine Yule Gift

Either-or both-would make a fine gift for Christmas, or residents who like animals, may want to go to the shelter and pick up some other dog or cat for a pet. There are many — all breeds and healthy — available for adoption.

Mrs. Katherine Stoutenburgh of Glenford, president of the S.P.C.A., explained that the animals may be obtained without paying for them. The procedure is easy to have a pet.

Anyone interested should visit the shelter, browse around and see the friendly animals that are waiting for a good home. The animals are not given to anyone who might be inclined to use them for experimental purposes. "These animals are pets, and they must be considered just that," an official of the Society noted.

Referring back to Lady Cleo and Stanley, both are about two years old, very friendly and in good health. They are in separate pens opposite each other, and daily they are permitted to run in a fenced in area along with each of the other animals in separate runways.

74 in County Arrested During Hunting Period

KINGSTON
State troopers arrested 74 persons in Ulster County during the hunting season from Oct. 2 to Dec. 2, according to Major J. W. Mohahan, commander of Troop F.

The Ulster County arrests were part of investigations made into 255 violations of law in cooperation with the Conservation Department. Ulster accounted for the second highest number of arrests, said Major Monahan, second only to The 79 recorded in Orange County.

Investigations in Ulster included four injuries and one death. Failure to attach hunting tag charges were lodged against 24 persons, the largest single offense in the county hunting record, and 19 charges of having loaded guns in vehicles were made.

Other charges lodged against hunters in Ulster during the season included: illegal transportation, four; untagged deer, two; failure to sign license, seven; false information on license, one; hunting without a license, one; failure to display license, two; illegal taking of doe, three; unlawful possession of doe, two; and illegal possession of game, one.

The major said that the most prominent criminal violation in the five county area (Sullivan, Orange, Ulster, Rockland and Greene) was having a loaded gun in a motor vehicle. Sullivan County led in that list with 49 arrests on the charge.

The animals are left at the shelter by residents who move to apartments or out of the area where they are not permitted to have pets. Some are picked up running loose by attendants of the S.P.C.A., who are on duty at all times, and have available for their work two ambulances.

An official noted that the dogs and cats are kept for a certain length of time, and then if they are not adopted — they are "put to sleep."

Note Statistics
Mrs. Stoutenburgh said operating expenses of the society for 1968 were nearly $30,000 and expenses for 1969 are going to exceed that figure "by quite a substantial amount."

The increase is partly due to building a new kitchen complete with cooking facilities, washing machine and refrigerators.

In 1969 the County Legislature appropriated $7,000 to the society. The balance of the money is earned through membership dues, food and rummage sales, sale of candy at Christmastime, and private contributions.

Donations are solicited whenever animals are brought to the shelter, or taken home for adoption.

Same Form, New Look

Thanks to another job well-done by your Treasury men in action, some 77 million Americans will be receiving a post-Christmas, ugh, present in the mail.

It's the same old income tax, but this year Form 1040 has a new look. The new 1040, which also replaces the old card Form 1040-A, is a one-page basic "building block" form to which schedules can be added to cover any tax situation.

Vastly more pleasing to the eye (or should we say, less offensive?) because of red and blue printing, Form 1040, like its appurtenant schedules, is printed on one side only, with necessary instructions on the back.

Because a taxpayer has to add only the schedules that apply to his particular situation (discarding the rest), he will no longer have to contend with inapplicable items. These will now appear on separate schedules.

For example, itemized deductions will no longer be on the same page as dividend and interest income but on separate schedules, with twice as much space as before.

Form 1040A—the old short form card—has been discontinued. Rising income levels in recent years and increased complexity in the financial status of taxpayers made it obsolete, says the Internal Revenue Service. Each year, fewer taxpayers filed the card form. However, the simplicity of the old 1040A has been built into the new 1040.

The IRS estimates that of the 77 million returns due to be filed for 1969, some 31 million will consist of just the one-page form. Another 22 million returns will need but one additional attachment to this basic form.

The Treasury is making it so easy we can hardly wait to get our new Form 1040. How about you?

Power to Affluence

A survey of Johnson cabinet members reveals that most are now busily acquiring money, where they had power before, with the notable exception of the man who perhaps wielded the most power over the world, next to the President, the eight-year Secretary of State Dean Rusk. He is on a one-year grant that will soon expire, taping oral history for the John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson libraries.

Law practice, teaching, lobbying, writing books, corporation executives, these are the ways that most of the former cabinet and White House staff members are occupying themselves now. They seem sorry for Rusk, who entered government from the presidency of the Rockefeller Foundation and is back there on a special assignment. He had spent most of life in diplomacy, for which there seems to be less demand in private enterprise than the departments that handled domestic problems.

Hubert Humphrey, now teaching and speaking, perhaps spoke for the group when he said that he missed his sizable staff, the excitement of Washington and the forum of the Senate where he served earlier. "There is a void," he admitted, "I am not as well informed as I was in the midst of public life." And Joseph Califano, Johnson's special assistant, misses "not moving and shaking the world." Money is necessary but power is inspiring.

Winter Driving

The increase in motor vehicle accidents in Ulster County and the surrounding area resulting too frequently in death and serious injury indicates that drivers fail to recognize or compensate for the added hazards of winter driving.

In addition to the normal year-round hazards, winter-time driving brings on additional perils such as reduced visibility and inadequate traction. Motor vehicle operators should realize that performance on snow and ice is no where near that on dry pavement and that speeds must be sharply reduced and longer following distances between cars observed.

For best visibility during winter storms, all windows—side and rear as well as windshield—must be kept clear. If we are to avoid further crashes, more emphasis will have to be placed on common-sense precautions by all drivers.

Practicing common courtesy on the highways and making allowance for unsafe driving conditions will help to make a happier winter season.

Impressed by the scale of American aid to South Vietnam's armed forces, Dr. William Jacson, vice chairman of the French Assembly's Foreign Affairs Committee, said that the South Vietnamese army is making a serious effort to take over the burden of the war. His testimony comes from a nation that has been critical of the United States.

First, they ripped to pieces and then burned two Viet Cong flags. They put the ashes in a two-by-four-inch replica of a coffin and mailed it to Hanoi. These veterans of the Vietnam war chanted "Hey, hey, USA," as they answered the recent student moratorium. The event took place in Pittsburgh on Pearl Harbor Day.

David Lawrence Says Soviet Budget Gets Bigger; Huge Military Spending

WASHINGTON — There is a lot of news in the Soviet Union budget for 1970 which has just been announced in Moscow. Revenues come almost entirely from state-owned industry and amount to 160.86 billion dollars. Expenditures are set at 160.53 billion, which is 11.87 billion higher than 1969.

Meanwhile, 240 million people are denied the opportunity to make profits in business, and wages are fixed and kept low by the state. What is significant, however, is that, despite the totalitarian form of government, an expenditure of 160 billion must be made. In contrast, in the United States, with approximately 200 million people, and without the ownership of government, collects about 199 billion dollars, and the state and local governments an additional 102 billion. The gross national product of the Soviet Union, moreover, is estimated at 400 billion dollars, while in the United States the latest figure is 933 billion a year.

Another comparison that is significant relates to the military budget, which is to be 19.8 billion in 1970, the highest in Soviet history. The rate of increase over last year declined, indicating a slowdown in military spending in both Vietnam and the Middle East. But the defense section of the budget does not by any means tell the whole story. It is well known that large sums for military purposes — maybe an additional 50 per cent of the budget figure — are hidden in general appropriations. These are for such items as scientific research, producing nuclear weaponry, the machine-building industry, manufacturing tanks and guns, and foreign aid, such as arms for the Arabs. It is difficult to find out how close to the American defense budget of 77 billion dollars the Soviets have come.

The Soviets have been involved in the affairs of other countries by sending money to support certain allies — a process as expensive as that incurred through American foreign policy.

Just as the United States would benefit by an era of peace in Southeast Asia as well as the Middle East, so the Soviets could utilize much of their funds for domestic purposes. There are, of course, no demonstrations in Russia against Communist policies, and if any should occur, the government would intervene. The same is true in Eastern Europe, where the Communist system is imposed and very few of the privileges enjoyed in the free-enterprise world are allowed.

One wonders why the radio and other means of communication from outside are not used more intensively to tell the people under Communist domination that they are failing to obtain, while peoples in the free countries have an opportunity to earn money commensurate with their ability and ingenuity.

There are some signs that the Moscow government is anxious to halt the expansion of military armament, including nuclear weapons, because of the heavy expense entailed. The United States is willing to make agreements to limit such expansion, but it is doubtful whether peoples under Communist rule are aware of the new kind of life that would be theirs if the Soviet economic system were altered so that individual enterprise could be permitted and incentives made lawful.

The Moscow Government, of course, has to impose rugged discipline in order to compel adherence by the people to the Communist system. If the Soviet people really knew, however, what a handicap Communism is imposing on the growth and well-being of the whole Soviet Union, they would demand a change.

The fact is that the Soviet budget is getting larger and larger each year, and state-owned industries are giving low priorities to funds to take care of the sociological problems of a country which is growing in population.

Maybe an international conference on how to improve the economic situation of all countries of the world by permitting greater freedom to the individual would be something the Russian people could learn about. Maybe the Moscow government itself would see the wisdom of some kind of participation in economic reforms that produce more and more revenue to be spent by and for the people.

Jack Anderson Says

Smithsonian Swaps Art Treasure; Taxpayers Skinned

WASHINGTON — The venerable Smithsonian Institution has swapped off one of the nation's art treasures without getting a formal appraisal of how much it was worth. Result: the taxpayers were badly skinned.

The Smithsonian's curators gave up a superb Flemish painting, valued at $30,000 to $35,000, in exchange for an American original with a price tag of only $10,000.

The unorthodox deal was made by Robert Tyler Davis, acting director of the Smithsonian's new National Collection of Fine Arts, who has virtually no funds for art purchases.

Over the past two years, Congress has allocated only $47,000 for new paintings — not enough money to buy much fine art. There were paintings on hand, however, that Davis felt could be sold or swapped for something better.

To enhance the National Collection, therefore, Davis had to reach into the public art treasury as stealthily as a wristwatch hustler on a Naples street corner.

Last February, the National Collection learned of an impressive painting, "Helen Brought to Paris," by the American artist Benjamin West, at the James Graham & Sons Gallery in New York City. The Collection decided to swap a Jan Massys painting, "Mother and Child," for it.

Prudence demanded the most careful appraisal before this public treasure was given up to a private gallery. Yet no formal appraisal was ever made.

Fast Shuffle

The Collection did obtain a written estimate from Parkes-Bernet Galleries, whose expert on old masters looked at the "Mother and Child" for a few minutes. Reached in New York City, the expert, Hugh Hildesley, said his estimate was strictly "informal." A formal appraisal, he explained, is notarized and required hours of research and examination.

Without waiting for this, the Smithsonian approved the trade on the recommendation of its own experts. Davis was so delighted with the deal that he wrote happily to Robert Graham, a partner in the Graham Gallery: "I am pleased that you have agreed to (the) exchange."

The Graham Gallery immediately put a price of $35,000 on the "Mother and Child" — more than triple the worth of the West painting that had been given to the Smithsonian in the exchange.

It is an interesting coincidence that the Smithsonian's secretary, S. Dillon Ripley, was a Yale classmate of Robert Graham. Ripley, however, denies having any advance knowledge of the swap.

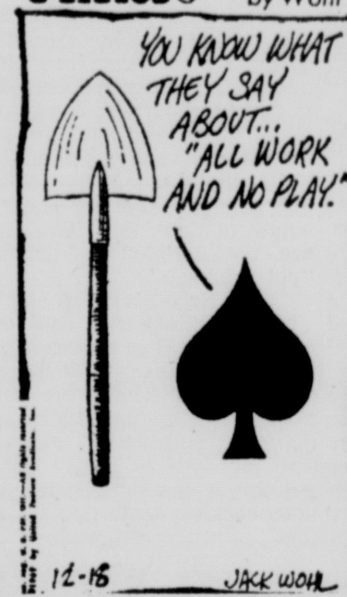

Next time, promised a spokesman, the Smithsonian will get two formal appraisals.

Note: Vice President Spiro Agnew, in a speech denouncing critics for wanting to transfer space funds to poverty programs, demanded rhetorically: "Would they ask Congress to stop building a fine arts center, to sell the treasures of the national galleries?" This is exactly what is happening, in part because Agnew and the administration have been unwilling to budget the money needed for new paintings.

Kremlin Struggle — Intelligence reports claim a fierce battle is raging inside the Kremlin between the hawks and the doves. This is described, essentially, as a struggle between government and party officials. The government faction, led by Premier Aleksei Kosygin, supposedly favors improving relations with the West. The party faction, led by party boss Leonid Brezhnev, is said to favor a hard line. It is difficult for Westerners to figure out what's really going on inside the Kremlin. There are indications that Brezhnev may be slipping and Kosygin gaining. But the State Department's Kremlinologists are skeptical. They consider Brezhnev too tough and tenacious to be easily displaced.

Farm Policy — The American Farm Bureau, champion of the rich corporate farmers and the big packing houses, held its convention in Washington recently with the usual empty granary for the small farmers, the migrant workers and the hungry poor. The Farm Bureau left behind, however, a Trojan Horse in the White House. She is Mrs. Haven Smith, First Lady of the Farm Bureau, who was selected by President Nixon to chair his Task Force on Rural Development. She has been spending much of her time on the luncheon speech circuit, denouncing farm subsidies as "socialized agriculture" and opposing Medicare for the elderly. The President stacked the task force with like-minded conservatives who can be counted on to keep the Farm Bureau furrow.

Pollution and Politics — There's a smell of politics in the announced White House plan to make a big show of cleaning up pollution and improving the environment next year. This not only is an answer to the nation's restless youth, who are gearing up for an antipollution campaign. It is also an answer to Maine's Sen. Ed Muskie, the No. 1 contender for the Democratic presidential nomination, who has led the fight against pollution. The White House would like to take pollution away from Muskie as an issue in the 1972 presidential campaign.

Henry J. Taylor Says Brandt Behind Red Move

Secretary of State William P. Rogers has been privately advised that Communist East German leader Walter Ulbricht is asking Bonn to let him come to Bonn, fly an appeasement flag there and then tour West Germany. Behind the scenes there are hidden tremors for us in this unrevealed pitch — and for Ulbricht, too.

Jacob D. Beam, our alert Ambassador to Moscow, has discovered that Ulbricht is protesting to Moscow about this play and that, in fact, the play was instigated by new West German Chancellor Willy Brandt, although Brandt stayed totally mum on the matter in his recent visit with Mr. Rogers in Brussels.

Pro-Soviet charges against Brandt, always denied, remain argued. Inevitably, Brandt's actions since winning the German chancellorship are weighed against his background.

Willy Brandt's real name is Herbert Karl Frahm. He was born in Berlin a week before Christmas in 1913. Frahm fled to Norway in 1932. He sat out the war in Norway. There Brandt took his present name. He renounced his German citizenship and became a Norwegian citizen under today's name. In 1948 he married a Norwegian girl, Mrs. R. Hansen, the widow of a Norwegian journalist.

Brandt even served as the Norwegian press attaché on a postwar Norwegian mission to Berlin.

Then Brandt renounced his Norwegian citizenship and reclaimed his German citizenship. The late, great pro-Western German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, who literally detested Brandt, once spoke to me of him as an "unreliable man of totally tentative convictions."

Ulbricht is, of course, a mere Soviet stooge. He has a look in his eye like the old films of Leon Trotsky: there is also an impression of left-over violence in his thick shoulders and big hands. Ulbricht's jaws drop from his craggy face like a rooster's wattle and his political plums have long since dropped to the ground and rotted there, but he is propped up by the Kremlin, as the Nazis propped up Vidkun Quisling in Norway during the war, and this leaves him in nominal charge of East Germany.

On the surface Ulbricht seems to respond by quoting Shakespeare: "Since I am a dog, beware my fangs." However, you find him quick to bathe in self-pity — a man who feels mortified, debased, schemed against, gone unrecognized and double-crossed, although Ulbricht is as used to all this as eels are to skinning.

A similar motley crowd depends on him. They include an estimated 400 hard-core Nazis in today's East German government, not the least of whom is Gen. Willi Stoph, the Prime Minister, no less. Their Brown shirts merely have been dyed Red.

Ulbricht and his henchmen have a vested interest in no entente with West Germany. And at this delicate and perhaps determining moment the State Department believes that Brandt is making them as nervous as a bystander caught in a bank holdup.

With typical Communist guile the East German Communist party talks of German reunification. But Ulbricht's clan has always feared that any improvement in the relations between West Germany and Eastern Europe would leave them isolated and more dependent than ever on Russian support. Ulbricht's worst nightmare is that, through Brandt, the Kremlin will embrace the new West German government.

Brandt plugged for this in his election run. Helpful to Brandt, the Kremlin issued a carefully-timed nonaggression pact proposal at the height of his campaign. Ambassador Beam informed Secretary Rogers that Ulbricht opposed this in Moscow. And, climbing in bed with this strange bedfellow on that issue, so did our government and NATO oppose the Soviet bait.

Disarmed 24 years ago, West Germany's 460,000-man army is today No. 1 in Western Europe and second only to the United States in the free world. As the Kremlin well knows, fear of the U.S.S.R. is the cement which holds NATO together, and the core of the entire structure is the aggregate U.S.-West German contingent.

The State Department is convinced that Brandt's entente with Moscow would immediately further weaken the North Atlantic alliance, erode NATO drastically, and help isolate our country from Western Europe. Hand in hand with this it would increase Moscow's sense of free-wheeling security to do largely as it pleased in Europe. Brandt would be giving Moscow a new weight in European affairs that all but shatters our total postwar European policy.

Disenchantment With Both Major Parties On College Campus

By GEORGE H. GALLUP Jr., and JOHN O. DAVIES III
Copyright, 1969, American Institute of Public Opinion. All rights reserved. Reproduction in whole or part strictly prohibited, except with written consent of the copyright holders.

PRINCETON, N.J., — At no other time in recent years has the college campus been more of a political "no-man's land" than it is today. A majority of students now express disenchantment with both major parties and no one political hopeful succeeds in exciting the college population as a whole.

The proportion of students who describe themselves as Independents in politics has grown steadily since 1966, when 39 per cent put themselves into this category, to 52 per cent today, the high point to date. Among the remaining 48 per cent, who indicate a party preference, the weight of opinion slightly favors the Democrats.

The growing tendency on campus to avoid identification with either major party could signal the beginning of a new era in American politics with a third party or multi-party system.

Spotlight Shared

Three Democrats currently vie closely for the political spotlight on campus. Sen. Eugene McCarthy, the 1968 campus hero, has a slight edge over Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine and Sen. Edward Kennedy, who was easily the top favorite last spring, but has lost considerable ground following the July 18 incident on Chappaquiddick Island.

Today's report is the first in a series of three — Is There a New Mood on Campus? Part Two examines students' attitudes on the Vietnam war. The third and final part will show changes students would like to see made on both the national and international fronts.

Covered 57 Institutions

The findings are based on a nationwide survey of 1092 college students on 57 college and university campuses across the nation, representing the correct proportions of men and women and students from public, private and denominational schools. Interviewing was conducted between Nov. 1 and 16.

A special team of editors, consisting of George Gallup Jr., John Davies III, Stacy Lloyd and Stuart Schwartzstein, supplemented the work of regular Gallup interviewers with in-depth interviews with students.

All students in the survey were first asked this question:

In politics, as of today, do you consider yourself a Republican, Democrat or Independent?

The following table shows the steady growth in the ranks of Independents among college students:

Growth in Independents

1966	39%
1967	42
1968	44
1969 (May)	44
1969 (Nov.)	52

Here is the trend in terms of the two major parties:

	Dem.	Rep.
1966	35%	26%
1968	29	29
1969	27	19
1969 (May)	33	23
1969 (Nov.)	27	21

Each student in the survey was next handed a card listing five Democrats who have been mentioned as possible future presidential candidates and asked this question:

Which one of the men listed on this card would you like to see lead the Democratic party between now and the next presidential election?

Democratic Candidate Choices (College Students)

	1969	1969	1968
	Nov.	May	Nov.
McCarthy	27	24	46
Muskie	24	19	*
Kennedy	23	38	33
Humphrey	11	8	15
McGovern	7	5	*
No preference	8	6	6

* Not included in survey.

From depth interviews, coupled with the work of regular Gallup Poll interviewers, the following portraits of the five candidates emerge:

1. Sen. Eugene McCarthy. Helped greatly by the enthusiasm and hard work of college students, Sen. McCarthy made a dramatic showing in last year's New Hampshire primary. Although his campaign subsequently faltered, many students today continue to look to him for leadership of the youth movement.

Much of McCarthy's appeal on campus is due to the large Independent group, among whom 32 per cent give him their support.

A junior from a small college in Pennsylvania, an Independent, said "He's got the courage to completely revamp the political system and this would suit me fine."

A student from another Eastern college, an 18-year-old freshman, remarked briefly: "McCarthy would mean more flowers and fewer bombs."

An undergraduate from Lehigh University picked McCarthy from the list of five Democrats: "He's a dedicated dove on the war and would listen with respect to the views of young people."

2. Sen. Edmund Muskie. The Senator from Maine has particular appeal among students attending college in the East and draws considerable support from males on campus. He scores better among Republicans than does any of the other candidates tested.

A 17-year-old junior said, "Muskie's got experience and a pleasant philosophical way about him. I think he could unite the people."

An 18-year-old girl effused: "He seems so strong and confident. I would rather have seen a Muskie-Humphrey ticket last year instead of the reverse."

3. Sen. Edward Kennedy. The Massachusetts Senator is particularly popular with campus Democrats and women, as well as students in the freshmen and sophomore classes. He scores less well among students in church-related and denominational schools than he does among public and private colleges and universities.

A student from Lafayette College, a 21-year-old senior, reflects the views of many other students across the country: "It seems like all the Kennedys, including Ted Kennedy, have had something special — something lacking in other politicians. They seem destined for high office."

4. Former Vice-President Hubert H. Humphrey. Former Vice-President Humphrey, defeated in last fall's presidential election, wins the support of one student in nine at the present time. He appeals particularly to students who lean to the Democratic party in their political views.

A 19-year-old male student applauded Humphrey as "the most honest man we've ever had running."

5. Sen. George McGovern. The South Dakota legislator suffers from being less well known than the others on the list, but the pattern of his support is balanced and he thus far appeals about equally to all segments of the public.

LONDON (UPI) — Cuming's Nasturtium came 200 miles to visit the House of Commons, but they turned her away at the door.

Open Bids Jan. 22 on Route 32 Project

SAUGERTIES project bids by the State Transportation Department estimated to total $23,576,000. Bids will be opened on Jan. 22 at the State Transportation Department office in Albany. The project costs will be covered by funds from the transportation bond issue approved by the voters in 1967 and will involve construction, reconstruction or other improvement to highways, bridges or waterways in 24 counties.

The project in Ulster County consists of the widening of Route 32 from a point near the Colonial Tavern south to the intersection of Route 212 at the cloverleaf. Route 32 will be widened to four lanes near the Thruway interchange to permit through traffic on two lanes and entrance and exit from and to the Thruway on two additional lanes. The highway will return to three lanes as it approaches Route 212. A full stop T will be constructed at Route 212 for east and west traffic. The peel off lane from westbound Route 212 will remain to provide access to the Thruway from Saugerties Village.

Seek Donations For Cheer Club Senior's Project

WOODSTOCK — The Woodstock Golden Cheer Club, which provides activities and personal gifts to the town's elderly in area rest homes or to those living alone, is moving into the final stages of its fund raising campaign for the holidays.

The club sponsors summer picnics and outings for the senior citizens and at Christmas provides gifts of clothing. Much of the fund raising is accomplished by conducting candy and bake sales. However the fund is low due to the holidays and there are many purchases that must be made for this Christmas.

The Christmas Eve Committee which sponsors a holiday program at the Village Green at 5:30 p.m. Christmas Eve annually makes a contribution to the fund.

Those wishing to donate to the fund may make checks payable to The Golden Cheer Fund and forward them to Mrs. George Eichler.

Christmas Eve Program Outlined

WOODSTOCK — The Story of Christmas will highlight the attractions of the annual Christmas Eve program at 5:30 p.m. to be held at the Village Green.

The program will also feature the singing of carols, Christmas music and the visit of Santa Claus, who is believed to plan an exciting entrance. Kingston Musicians Union Local 215 will provide the music under the direction of Harry Castiglione, a Woodstock member.

A vocal group under the direction of Mrs. Richard Braen will entertain with carols. The Rev. Donald Hicks of the Dutch Reformed Church will present the Christmas Story. The Rev. William Rogers of the Methodist Church will offer the invocation. A message of greetings will be delivered by Woodstock Supervisor Milton Hout. Paul De Lisio will serve as master of ceremonies.

A thousand stockings filled with Christmas goodies will be distributed by Santa Claus to all the children attending. The committee notes there is still time to provide the names of children for the delivery of cheer baskets and also for those who will receive a dinner basket. The names must be submitted to William West Jr., the entire program is sponsored by the Christmas Eve Committee which has again made a contribution to the Golden Cheer Club for gifts for the elderly at home or in area rest homes. The Cheer Club is program to provide gifts to the currently conducting a fund-raising campaign.

Mohawk Plans To Take Action Against Pilots

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — Mohawk Airlines officials said the company would bring libel action against the Air Line Pilots Association and the union's Mohawk representative for $5 million for what the company claimed was an attempt to urge pilots into a work slowdown.

The airline also said it had fired Jack Mozzian, the union's Mohawk branch chairman, who will be named in the action. Mozzian, the company said, had written to pilots on "the need for a slowdown disguised as a safety program."

Mohawk said the libel action was based on statements attributed to the pilots association and Mozzian against the company's chairman, Robert E. Peach, and its assistant vice president for flight operations Ralph T. Colliander.

Mohawk said statements by the association and Mozzian led the public to believe that the airline promoted economic interests over safety.

Mohawk said the company, Peach and Colliander would be bringing the suit.

Mozian, the airline said, was named in the suit because he signed a document mailed to all the pilots urging the slowdown.

Innocent Plea For Sen. Adams

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — State Sen. William E. Adams claimed his innocence Tuesday of charges that he lied to a grand jury about a $5,000 campaign contribution.

The Republican senator, in a statement issued from his Albany office, said he would enter a plea of innocent in New York City Monday where he will appear in court.

"I know that my innocence will be established when this matter comes to trial," he said. "And I have instructed my attorneys to press for a trial at an early date."

Adams said he will continue treatment for an illness and intends to serve in the 1970 legislature which convenes Jan. 7.

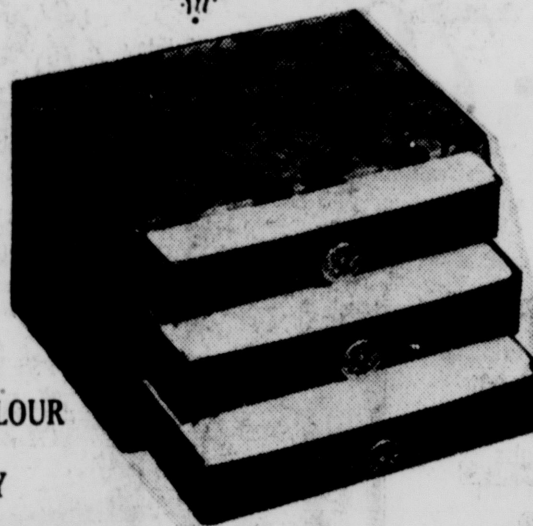

Adams is charged also with perjury in saying he gave $5,000 in cash back to two PHS officials, telling them that a campaign contribution of that size might be misunderstood.

Ulster 'Senior' Plan

Handy Work Exchange

By SHANE CROSBY

With nothing but time on their hands, senior citizens often sit and knit or make small items just to have something to keep active. Few of the items ever leave the hands of the maker, unless there is a retail outlet. But, a shop owner-postmistress in the Town of Ulster has started a "handy work exchange" that she says "gives the oldsters a place to display and sell their work." Mrs. Ethel (Winnie) Jackson, operator of her own shop and the Ulster contract Post Office on Vincent Street, expects to have the exchange in operation shortly after the first of the year.

A handful of items is already on display in the post office — also the offices of outgoing Ulster Supervisor Thaddeus Musialkiewicz. "When the supervisor and the building inspector move out in January," said Mrs. Jackson, "We will start to paint the floors and set up the shop."

Items for sale would range from knitted gloves to small conversation pieces, mostly made by senior citizens. To be called the Women's Exchange for Handy Work, the shop will charge a small commission fee on the items sold. "It will also give them pride in themselves," said Mrs. Jackson, "and it is a good market for handywork items, and said that her own Hadler's Nursing Home where shop had been successful in the token gifts will be presented items."

She said that so far, even before any public announcement outside of her post office, she has received interested responses from about 25 senior citizens. "One lady," she said, "told me 'we need an outlet like this' saying she had to take her handy work to Hudson for sale."

Mrs. Jackson said she is seeking persons to join the exchange before the opening in January. "We hope to get a good number of people" to sign up, she said, "so that when we open the stock will be in the store."

"Anyone can join," she added, "but, I want to push it for the seniors... they need an outlet."

Bus Schedule Changed Due To Holidays

Arrangements can be made for the bus to stop at other points en route to Middletown, through Wallkill, Walden and Montgomery. The office is open Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

On the return journey, the bus leaves the hospital at 4 p.m. and arrives in Kingston at approximately 5:30 p.m.

Further information may be obtained from the office of the Ulster County Association for Mental Health in Kingston, or from Mrs. Albert S. Kerr in New Paltz. Calendar with the schedules for 1970 are now available, provided by the Saugerties Coal and Lumber Company.

Michiko Watanabe talks about rising prices. pinned the label, "the beauty of Japan," and further enhance the prestige of her party which is the fastest growing in Japan. She talks about dangerous streets, dirty playgrounds, the old lawyer and also a beauty in a seat in the 486-member assembly.

the "clean government" party. It was formed in 1962 and in the space of seven years has become the third largest in the Japanese parliament and the second in the Tokyo city assembly.

It follows a brand of Buddhism founded by a Buddhist holy man in the 13th century and is the offspring of Sokagakkai, a society persecuted in the 1930's because it refused to recognize the divinity of the emperor. After World War II it sprang to life again. Today it claims 10 million members and has its own publishing empire.

The average age of its 76 candidates for parliament is 39. school teachers, office workers, products of the American equivalent of U.S. "street car colleges" and not the prestige universities which traditionally supply Japan's leadership.

Fights Traditional
Japan's parliamentary elections traditionally have been fought out by Sato's Liberal Democratic party and the Socialists.

Sato's party is expected to benefit from his success in obtaining a U.S. promise to return Okinawa in 1972, adding perhaps 20 seats to the 272 it now holds. The Socialists, fragmented between peaceful parliamentarians and violent rebels, could lose 20 to 30 out of their total of 135.

Komeito, aligned not with the United States and seemingly impervious to Communist infiltration, is giving both a run for their money and could double its present membership of 25.

Woman Injured, Given Summons

NEW PALTZ
A 74-year-old woman was injured at 3:05 p.m. Wednesday when her car was involved in a collision on Route 299 at Ohioville Road in this town. Anna Ferraro, of North Ohioville Road, was taken to Kingston Hospital and treated for a fractured nose.

Trooper R. J. Faugh of Highland cited the woman for failure to yield the right of way. The summons is returnable before Town Justice Rexford Schneider. The other car was driven by James Ostrander, 40, of 15 Wilnot Terrace, Poughkeepsie, who was not injured.

Another traffic mishap investigated by Highland troopers involved a car driven by Barton L. Tubbs, 40, of Highland, and a parked vehicle. Trooper P. A. Koenig reported Tubbs was driving along Woodside Place in the Town of Lloyd at 12:45 a.m. today when his car crossed the highway and hit a parked automobile.

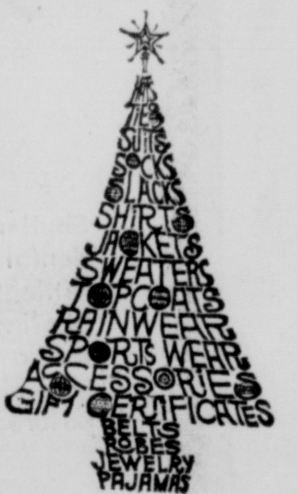

Tubbs was cited for driving while intoxicated after he took a blood test. He also was booked for failure to keep to the right. Town Justice Linn Baker released the motorist in his own custody pending a hearing on Dec. 30.

Ends Up in Jail

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (UPI)—A student in a police science course ended up in jail Tuesday because he allegedly offered two of his classmates a cigarette.

David Frank Balletti, 19, was arrested during a class break by two sheriff's deputies, who also were students in the course on "vice and narcotics," because they said he offered them marijuana cigarettes.

toxicated, following a two-car accident on Broadway at West Union Street Wednesday at 7:20 p.m. Two other persons were injured in separate accidents in the city.

Police reports noted that Peter Schoonmaker, 33, of 34 Grant Street, was turning his car from West Union into Broadway when the vehicle went out of control and collided with a parked car owned by Theodore Taylor of 56 Van Buren Street. Schoonmaker was summoned for drunken driving. He sustained scalp lacerations and a neck injury.

Passengers in his car were George Schoonmaker, 23, of 34 Grant Street, who received cuts of the head; Joseph M. Schoonmaker, 24, of 160 Tilden Street, Port Ewen, laceration of the scalp; Edward Carroll, 62, of 36 Abeel Street, injuries of the left leg and left hand and Alfred Knowles, 21, of 83 Green Street, whose injuries were not determined. The four were taken to Kingston Hospital by Fatum's Ambulance.

In another accident reported by police, John C. Madden, 27, of Box 84, Hurley, received head injuries at 3:35 a.m. today when his car collided with a parked vehicle in front of 197 Greenkill Avenue. The second car was owned by Leslie Stewart of that address.

At 7:10 p.m. yesterday, cars operated by Alexander R. Brown, 38, of Shokan, Arthur R. Sutton, 20, of Samsonville and Raymond A. Venuti, 25, of 48 Groff Street, were involved in a mishap on Broadway. Bonnie Sutton, 18, was taken to Benedictine Hospital for treatment of a possible head injury.

Police said the Brown and Sutton vehicles were stopped in traffic when the Venuti car was in collision with the rear of Sutton's automobile and pushed it into the back of the Brown car.

Apparent Suicide Ruled by Keyser

TOWN OF ULSTER William R. McGuire, 62, retired, of 722 Albany Avenue Extension, died Wednesday afternoon at his home of self-inflicted gunshot wounds of the stomach, according to authorities.

It was reported that McGuire was in a second floor bedroom when he reportedly shot himself with a shotgun and collapsed on the floor. He was found by members of the family who were downstairs at the time.

Coroner William S. Keyser, who investigated with BCI Investigator Joseph Franke of the Kingston State Police Zone headquarters, said it was an apparent suicide. Authorities said the case is still under investigation. It was reported the man had been despondent recently.

Tips Offered To Halt Smut

POSTMASTER NEWKIRK

By WALTER S. CLARK
KINGSTON

Circulation of smut or pornographic advertising and literature can be controlled and the mailer put out of business providing the recipient of this type of mail makes immediate vigorous objections to the proper authorities.

This was the comment of Postmaster Oscar V. Newkirk in discussing the operations involving the use of mails to distribute such advertising to postal patrons who are disgusted with the material they receive unsolicited.

All types of indecent advertising—and pictures—have been received by area residents and businesses from mailers in various parts of the country and from abroad.

No Small Job
The Post Office Department in trying to eliminate smut mailing realizes it is bucking a $500 million enterprise, and it is not a small job," Newkirk commented.

The mail in question is being sent to mail patrons via first class mail, the postmaster noted, and therefore the Post Office Department has no means of knowing what is in the first class mail unless the postal patron objects to the type of mail he is receiving.

"The worst part of smut mail is when it gets in the hands of teenagers via a purchased mailing list," Newkirk said. It was noted that the mailers of smut or pornographic advertising purchase at good prices, lists of persons who eventually are recorded on mailing lists in possession of the individuals or businesses that distribute the objectionable material.

Form 2150 First Step
The first thing a postal patron, who receives smut mail, should do is to go to a post office and file a form 2150. This form and the envelope and its contents should be handed over to the postmaster. Then it will be forwarded to the proper authorities who in turn will notify the mailer of the objectionable material to discontinue sending any further mail of the smut type to the objecting postal patron.

The postal patron objecting to this type of mailing, who receives more smut or pornographic material from the advertiser, 30 days after the original objection is made, should again get in touch with the postmaster who will then inform the Post Office Department officials of the objections and court action will be taken against the mailer by those officials, Newkirk explained.

The Post Office Department has tried to determine pornographic material that was going through the mail, and took a mailer to court, where the defendant requested a jury trial and subsequently won his case based on his contention that the material was not objectionable—but art.

Some Cases Cited
Records on file cite a case dated Oct. 31, 1969 when a federal grand jury indicted Lynell Lee Appel and his wife, Phyllis Eileen Appel, as well as their mail order concern in Shreveport, La., identified as Jo Lee Distributing Corp., all of Los Angeles, Calif. The nine count indictment included five counts charging the mailing of unsolicited obscene advertisements and four counts bearing on sale of obscene material in violation of the postal obscenity statute. On Nov. 3, the Appels were arrested at Los Angeles by postal inspectors. Bonds on each in the amount of $10,000 were furnished.

Another case brought to the attention of Newkirk was dated Oct. 15, 1969. A federal grand jury returned a true bill on an indictment against Michael G. Thevis, Jr., age 37, and his wife, Joan C. Thevis. This indictment, records show, contains 17 counts, 15 of which relate to violations of the postal obscenity statute (18 USC 1461) and two charge interstate transportation of obscene material (18 USC 1462).

Thevis has conducted business as Peachtree News Company, Pendulum, and Peachtree National Distributors through numerous bookstores and newsstands particularly in the South, the record noted. His mail order operation has been conducted under the name "The Book Bin," an authority said.

Corridor Ordered
AUBURN, N.Y. (AP) — A Federal judge Tuesday ordered striking General Electric workers picketing the Waterford, Saratoga County, plant to open a corridor for non-strikers to enter the plant.

Judge Edmund Port, of U.S. District Court, issued the order after hearing arguments in the case brought by the National Labor Relations Board against Local 359 of the International Union of Electrical Workers.

Lights of Christmas Shine Along Clifton Avenue

Christmas comes to Clifton Avenue. Brightly lighted decorations shine out these wintry nights with a warm glow of the season. The homes of Donald Burgher (L) and Hugh Clark (R) in the first photo are outlined in star-like brilliance while snow covered evergreens strung with lights complete the greeting card scene. At the home of Deputy Police Chief Julius Glassman (R) Santa and his reindeer course across the lawn while a lighted creche and other religious symbols of the season serve as reminders of the first Christmas. The joyous holiday is almost here much to the delight of children quivering in anticipation of the big day and much to the relief of harried adults rushing to complete preparations. The beauty of the season is played out each evening in these displays along Clifton Avenue and throughout Ulster County. The weatherman is cooperating in providing a proper setting for the Christmas decorations by blessing the countryside with a snow mantle which has remained thanks to record breaking cold. This morning, the city engineer's office reported an official low of five degrees which dipped below the previous cold reading for this date — an eight degree mark in 1945. More snow is in the forecast for tonight or early tomorrow with accumulations of two to four inches promised by Friday afternoon. A White Christmas appears assured. (Freeman photo by Haines).

Red Hook Mayor Details Plans For Greater Traffic Control

By TIM SCHUSTER

RED HOOK — Red Hook Village Clerk Francis Rabbett Wednesday detailed prospective plans for greater traffic control in the village. As a result of a "very interesting" meeting held with state Transportation Department officials and members of the state police last week, it was decided to make some changes along Route 199 at the western approach to Route 9 in the village. Besides the previously reported moving of the 30 mile per hour sign further to the west, thereby allowing greater facility in entering and leaving the high school grounds, Rabbett said that flashing signals at the school signs would be installed. Both the high school and Linden Avenue Elementary School will be affected. The state will continue traffic counts on Route 199. Officials have previously noted that the installation of traffic signals was not warranted, despite repeated petitions and complaints by area residents.

Traffic engineer from Poughkeepsie, J. J. Gleason, did not specify any particular time when these changes would be effected. Tech. Sgt. H. J. Hawkins of the Hawthorne barracks of the state police is working with the transportation department. State police get copies of all changes in signs, and advise the transportation department from their experience.

"Nothing can be done about noises from trucks, or rerouting them," said Rabbett. Trucks use Route 199, taking a left at the village traffic light on Route 9 as a heavily travelled thoroughfare, both day and night. There is no alternate route available for them to travel.

Single-Family Homes—Almost Only for Very Rich

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The single-family home, once the hallmark of the American middle class, may be becoming too expensive for all but the very rich.

The Commerce Department reported recently 45 per cent of the new housing units produced so far this year were apartments or other multi-family dwellings. The multi-family share of the market was 35 per cent just two years ago.

Starts of single-family homes reached their all-time peak in late 1963, the department said. By contrast, starts of apartment units in the first quarter of this year were 50 per cent higher than in 1965.

The department listed several reasons for the swing to apartments. All of them boiled down to one thing—money. Rental costs increased 8.25 per cent from the end of 1963 to mid-1965, while homeownership costs increased 23 per cent. Land costs have increased sharply, making it an economic necessity to "stack" more homes in apartment buildings. Increasing land costs now have pushed the price of single-family homes beyond the reach of many families.

Tax Influence

Tax considerations have encouraged builders to turn more of their efforts to apartments. It has proved to be easier to find money to finance apartment projects in current very tight money markets because of the use of "equity kickers." The kicker provisions, which guarantee the lender a share from the project, is being demanded with increasing frequency by lenders. Single-family homes are frozen out of the kicker market.

In 1965, 50 per cent of all new homes sold in the United States cost less than $20,000. This year, the figure was down to 25 per cent. At the other end of the scale, houses costing more than $35,000 accounted for 5 1/2 per cent of the sales in 1965 and 22 per cent this year.

Monthly Payments Higher

The monthly payments on new houses rose even faster than the sale price because of steadily increasing interest rates.

The sharply increasing cost of single-family houses has also helped stimulate the sales of mobile homes. Shipments of mobile homes have increased 50 per cent since 1965.

The Commerce Department's report also emphasized the home building industry is in a serious slump because of a shortage of money to finance both single and multi-family units.

"There is no evidence of a letup in credit restraint, and further sizable declines in housing starts appear to be in the offing, the report said. Housing starts have been running at an annual rate of about 1.3 million since mid-year. But the department said that rate is not enough even to keep pace with current demand.

It is estimated an average of 1.1 million new families are being formed every year. In addition to the homes needed to house the new families, the department said, about 700,000 units are needed annually to replace worn out units.

Witty Approach To Homemaking

By ARLEEN ABRAHMS

Asking most women to admit they're not tops in the home-making department is like asking them to admit they've had a face lift. They may tell their very best friends, but few women are likely to come right out and make a public statement to the effect that their cooking and cleaning leave much to be desired.

Peg Bracken did; witness the titles of her best-sellers: "The I Hate to Cook Book," "The I Hate to Housekeep Book," "I Try to Behave Myself," Peg Bracken's Etiquette Book" and "Peg Bracken's Appendix to The I Hate to Cook Book." Furthermore, she feels that admitting what many other women would have loved to admit but couldn't about such previously reverently treated topics as cooking is responsible for her success as a humorist.

"Humor is almost always serious. What makes the situation funny is that it's so true," says the attractive middle-age wife, mother and homemaker-writer.

"For example," explains Miss Bracken, "given a half hour's notice that company is coming, is the average woman going to be able to turn out one of those deluxe dishes displayed in the ladies' magazines—setups that take three women three days to prepare and photograph? No, so why not do what I do? Open a can of corn beef hash, poach an egg and slice some tomatoes. For dessert, there's always a box of chocolates in the house. This meal is okay with the home ec ladies, too, but they're not about to admit it."

Does Miss Bracken have any pet peeves in addition to the 108 from the 108 sins of Buddha she itemizes in her latest book? "Yes—in two," she says with fire in her eyes.

"One is spreading the bathroom over the living room. Have you ever had guests in, turned on the television and watched a very detailed commercial for a feminine deodorant. It's downright embarrassing."

Pet peeve No. 2 is being called clever. Although she delights in combining wit with wisdom to ease the housewife's burdens and even though she's especially proud of the fact that a New York clinic is giving away her books to help newly discharged psychiatric patients cope better with everyday chores, clever to her is a "dirty word."

"I don't want people to admire my writing for its double meaning, for its sharp use of words," says the woman who claims she's wanted to be a writer since her childhood days in St. Louis, where her Dad was superintendent of schools. "I want people to laugh aloud when they read me. I used to write a lot of light verse but stopped when I realized that light verse, with the exception of Ogden Nash's, is rarely funny. To me, being funny is very important. I guess I just can't get my tongue out of my cheek."

Or take the well-known decorating hangup. "It's an established fact that many women get all jittery because they aren't sure that their taste is first-class, but they're afraid to say so. I admit that my only real talent is wallpapering but I never pick the right paper—a fact I never discover until the project is finished," says Miss Bracken with a smile.

There was no decorating crisis at her home in Bolinas, Calif., where she lives with her husband, a painter-illustrator Parker Edwards and Johanna, 13, her daughter by a previous marriage. It was only natural for her to call in a decorator right at the start.

"Otherwise I'd never have decided on anything," I'm too democratic . . . I like

WILTWYCK CHAPTER HOUSE and Museum, Kingston, was built prior to 1695 and owned by Anthony Crispell. It is one of the oldest remaining stone houses in upper New York State. On a triangular lot within the Stockade, it was burned by the British on October 16, 1777. The house was rebuilt and occupied by Hendricus Sleght, village president, and later owned by John Tappen who published his paper, "The Ulster Plebian," there. The house was purchased in 1967 by Wiltwyck Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution and restored by Myron S. Teller, colonial architect. Handcrafted, the house was completed with wrought iron hardware and authentic furnishings. The Wiltwyck Chapter House and Museum is used by the DAR for meetings and historic observances. Tours are conducted every third Thursday from May through October. Mrs. Adam H. Porter, Chapter chairman of public relations, at left, and Mrs. Floyd N. Ellsworth, Chapter Regent, are pictured outside the house. On December 27, the DAR, Wiltwyck Chapter, will have its Regents Tea in the historic house from 2:30-4:30 p. m. In January, 1970, the DAR will have a covered dish supper. Hostesses for the Jan. 6 event will be Mrs. Elmer P. Resseguie, Mrs. Porter, Mrs. Harold F. Smith and Miss Florence Tappan. Members will elect delegates and alternates to the 78th Continental Congress also. Guest speaker will be Albert Barnett. (Freeman photo by Haines)

Auxiliary Aids Kingston Hospital

A check in the amount of $20,000 was presented to the Kingston Hospital by its Auxiliary this week. The money will make it possible to purchase 25 Regalmatic beds offering the highest degree of automation and safety to the patient and staff.

Mrs. Harold Finkle, Auxiliary president, made the check presentation to Wilbur R. Peters, administrator.

Purchase of the beds was made possible by the volunteer efforts of Auxiliary members through such fundraising functions as operation of the snack bar, gift shop, sales cart and baby photo service. The annual ball in February and the card party in April also served to raise funds.

In making the presentation, Mrs. Finkle noted that the Auxiliary is "a functioning part of the hospital itself and ever cognizant of the need of more sophisticated equipment to meet the health needs of the community. Today it is not enough that you are a volunteer, it is more important that you are a responsible volunteer for an Auxiliary must plan for the future, right along with its hospital," Mrs. Finkle said.

Mr. Peters expressed the hospital's appreciation for the check. He added, "most people seldom give much thought to health or think of a hospital as anything other than a large building in which they take a certain civic pride. They seldom realize that the hospital must constantly be alert to the community and its health needs as a provider of health services, by they emergency, diagnostic, newborn or acute, vices, be they emergency, occurs in the middle of the night, they rush to the hospital confident that it and its staff will be ready to care for them."

"Highly specialized and qualified personnel, ultra modern equipment and costly building expansion are all part of the composite picture for hospitals today and in this picture the Auxiliary has a responsible position," Mr. Peters concluded.

Broken Hangers

If the neck hanger on your coat is broken, have it fixed at once. Until you do, however, never hang it up by the neck. Put it on a hanger or hang it by a shoulder of the coat, as the ladies do. If your shirt collar points turn or curl up men, try (a) giving them a good stretch or (b) tying a smaller knot in your tie.

A DIFFERENT DESSERT—Cookies containing fish protein concentrate are sampled by Mrs. Robert Sansone, formerly of Congress, and Mrs. Walter J. Hickel, wife of the Secretary of the Interior. The concentrate, developed by the Department of the Interior's Bureau of Commercial Fisheries, can be used as a protein supplement in a wide variety of food items, and could be a major weapon in the war against hunger. The cookies were a novelty item on the menu of a recent luncheon given by Mrs. Hickel in the Secretary's Dining Room (Department of the Interior, Washington, D. C.) honoring wives of White House Fellows. As one of the young men selected for special training in various Federal departments and offices, Mr. Sansone has been assigned to the Department of Commerce. (Photo by Bob Williams) banquet of color topped off by the exquisite shine of still more diamonds.

Stone rings are as colorful as Christmas ornaments when set with opals, smoky topaz, sardonyx, cameos, chrysoprase, turquoise, coral, Burma jade, garnets, Linde stars. The less familiar stones, like the tourmaline and the peridot, make the exceptional ring gifts for Christmas '69.

A pearl ring is a lustrous Christmas star to shine brightly wherever fashion reigns. It can be a magnificent cream white pearl, the wonder of colored baroque pearls, the glory to the dusky Tahitian pearl. Whatever it is, it is sure to be surrounded by the dazzle of diamonds.

Antique ideas in ring styles are a real treat for Santa's girls. He can give them a sentimental Victorian Christmas with rings of twisted gold, black enamel finish and cabochon cut stones like amethyst, jade, coral.

Simple gold bands that allow many on a finger enameled and stone set serpent rings, rings of Zodiac symbols are Santa's subtle praise of her fashion expertise and individuality.

A ring is an integral part of a man's wardrobe, too. Under his furry mitten, Santa may be sporting one himself! Signet, fraternal, initial and Linde star rings are ideal for those male requests Santa gets. Birthstone rings, surrounded by lore and regarded as tokens of good luck, are the perfect gift exchange for him and for her.

To know which is the correct birthstone for the lucky people on your list, Santa, the Jewelry Industry Council has compiled this rundown: January, Garnet — constancy; February, Amethyst — sincerity; March, Aquamarine or Bloodstone — courage; April, Diamond — innocence; May, Emerald — love and success; June, Pearl or Alexandrite — health; July, Ruby — contentment; August, Peridot or Sardonyx — married happiness; September, Sapphire — clear thinking; October, Opal or Tourmaline — hope; November, Topaz — fidelity; December, Turquoise or Zircon — prosperity.

Food Tips

COTTAGE CHEESE

Fresh dairy cottage cheese is made from pasteurized skim milk separated into curds and whey. The salted dry curd is sold as plain cottage cheese. Creamed cottage cheese is the same curd with three tablespoons of light cream per cup added.

FISH CHOWDER

New Englanders are famous for their great fish chowders. In one such recipe, a little lemon is added for sprightliness of taste. And a bit of sugar — 1 teaspoon to 10 portions — goes into the cooking pot to blend the hearty flavors of the other foods.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Here is an idea I came up with this past Christmas when I was deciding what OLD cocktail dress I had worn last year and to whose party.

With two or more sets of friends, professional and non-professional, my friends, my husband's friends, then friends of both, this posed a problem.

So I took masking tape, cut off about six inches, then doubled it over the wire neck of my coat hanger.

With ink I noted and dated each occasion that each dress was worn. Now, next year I will not be wearing the same old thing to the party where the same group of people will most likely be.

After each dress is removed from the hanger and worn, naturally I place it back on the same hanger after the party and make an additional note.

Libby Hertell

Dear Libby:

This is a new one for the books! How clever can a witty gal be?

We all love you for teaching us how to let other people think we have a new dress for that special party.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I brought one of those washable string mops, the kind that you can remove from the handle and launder.

Then I made a darling puppet for my moppet.

If you use your imagination, you can really fashion all types of hair-dos and paint on any face you desire.

The kids will spend many happy hours with these little homemade goodies.

Mrs. A. Crompton

Dear Heloise:

I think I have a rather interesting variation for French toast. I call mine Pineapple French toast and it's delicious.

First I cut my slices of bread in half because I feel that it is easier to handle.

Then in the bowl go the eggs, sugar, and cinnamon. (Very often I substitute honey for the sugar, using one tablespoon for each egg.)

I beat all this until it's fluffy. You can add just a little milk if desired, but I usually don't find this necessary.

Set this aside and put on a skillet with a lot of butter and about a quarter of a cup of crushed pineapple. Let this get real hot. Now you are ready to dip your bread into the egg mixture and fry quickly in the butter and pineapple.

The bits of pineapple will stick to the bread.

This is my husband's very favorite breakfast: Pineapple French toast, ham, coffee, and the morning paper, but not necessarily in that order.

Mrs. W. O. Hagen

Dear Heloise:

If you are ever toasting bread for sandwiches, and burn it . . . let's back up and call that overbrowned it! try rubbing the two pieces together over the sink.

Does a beautiful job of scraping!

Next best thing is use a serrated knife and scrape away . . .

Dear Heloise:

When teaching youngsters to ice skate, put a wooden chair on the ice for them to hang onto. Sure saves the bumps and frustrations of little ones trying to learn.

Mrs. A. P.

Dear Heloise:

If you like string attached to the little Christmas name tags you buy in large quantities, only to find many of them without string:

Get out your embroidery floss, needle and scissors. Punch a small hole in the upper left-hand corner of the tag, thread a piece of the embroidery floss through the hole, tie a knot in it and, presto, you can secure it to your package.

Give the children this job — they'll love it.

Mrs. N. Green

Letter of Love

Dear Heloise: You are part of our happy home . . . and we love having you in it.

Faithful Reader

Dear Heloise:

My wife never knew where her car keys were 'til she took one of those little brass ball-bells (like you use on children's shoes, Christmas packages, etc.) and attached it to her key holder.

Now all she has to do is shake a purse to know if the keys are in that one; and shake the one she is carrying to be reassured she didn't leave them in the car.

Lt. Col. LaGarde

Dear Heloise:

I found out a good way to get both hubby and kids to check packets before "stuff" reaches the hamper.

Just sing out, "All the money is mine," a couple of times, and they'll really get the hint!

DO CHINESE RESTAURANTS BAFLE YOU?

Good Chinese food is really delicious. It has the advantage of not being heavy, filling, fattening, and Chinese restaurants also are less expensive than many others. There are, however, several questions that people ask about the correct way to eat a Chinese meal. This quiz may not necessarily explain the way Chinese people would dine in their own homes, but it does suggest good table manners for Americans when they are eating at a Chinese restaurant.

1. Q. Is it correct to eat an egg roll with your fingers?

A. Yes. However, it may also be eaten with a fork, especially towards the end when the crispy crust is apt to crumble and break into pieces.

2. Q. May you share dishes with your other dining companions?

A. Yes. One of the most enjoyable parts of eating in a Chinese restaurant is being able to sample a little of several different dishes and many restaurants suggest that you order to do just this.

3. Must you use chopsticks?

A. No. A few people like to experiment with them and if you want to, by all means ask the waiter for a pair. For serious eating, however, most Westerners stick to fork and knife.

4. Q. how do you eat barbecued ribs?

A. There is no satisfactory way, except to pick them up in your fingers. Most Chinese restaurants provide damp, warm towels for cleaning your fingers after eating egg rolls, ribs, etc.

5. Q. When and how is soy sauce used?

A. It is sprinkled on your food after you have helped yourself from the serving dishes. Since soy sauce is quite salty, taste your food before adding additional salt.

6. Q. Who should serve the tea?

A. Normally the host or hostess picks up the tea pot and fills everyone's cup before his own. Since the cups are small, most people like several refills, and anyone may pour his own after first offering to pour for others.

7. Q. How do you eat the mustard and sweet sauces?

A. Since the sauces are served in individual dishes, you have a choice. You may dip your food, bite by bite, into either or both, or you may spoon a little of each sauce onto your place. Some people like to mix the sauces, while others prefer to keep them separate.

Good Selections in Meat, Poultry Throughout Holiday

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Agriculture Department's Consumer and Marketing Service reports that food shoppers will find good selections in meat and poultry as well as fresh fruits and vegetables in food stores and supermarkets this weekend and for the Christmas holiday. Broiler-fryer chickens are a top meat buy and are featured on the department's plentiful foods list for December. Roasts and steaks are beef items in best supply. Smoked picnicks and hams will be the most abundant in the pork line. Fish buys to look for, according to the Interior Department, are canned Maine sardines, canned fish sticks and portions, and canned tuna.

Fresh vegetables in best supply are onions, potatoes, cabbage, and sweet potatoes. Traditional Christmas fruits now abundant are apples, oranges, grapefruit, and tangerines. Other foods on plentiful foods list for December are dry beans, dry split peas, lentils, canned peaches, canned pears, canned tomatoes, and tomato products.

Tiny Tips

Frameful of Greetings

Give holiday visitors a special greeting by displaying this year's Christmas cards as a framed decoration in the foyer, the Picture and Frame Institute suggests. Before the cards start arriving, cut a piece of cardboard to fill a large picture frame, cover this cardboard with red or green cloth; put the cardboard into the frame and hang your soon-to-be masterpiece in the entryway. As Christmas cards arrive, simply pin them to the cloth backing in arrangements that please you.

Bell Your Jewelry

Add sparkle to your chain jewelry for the holiday season by attaching festive bells to necklaces, bracelets, heavy rings and — if you're the adventurous type who doesn't get headaches from bells ringing in her ear — on earrings, too.

The top of the fashion picture from right now on into spring is the top-knot hairstyle. Make yours with a fall or real or synthetic hair if your own isn't long enough.

Cookies as Gay as a Tinselled Christmas Tree

HOLIDAY DELIGHTS — JEWELLED THUMBPRINTS AND BUTTER RUM CHEESE BARS

Imagine, cookies as gay and sparkling as a tinselled Christmas tree! Regal fruit jellies, candied fruits and nuts make these sweet tooth favorites come to life — right in your very own kitchen.

Jewelled Thumbprints and Butter Rum Cheese Bars are gaily decorated holiday cookies that can be made as fast and as effortlessly as they disappear. The short cut secret — refrigerated slice and bake cookies dough from the grocer's case.

For a bar cookie that's pretty to look at and even better to eat, try Butter Rum

Cheese Bars. These feature a creamy cheese cake layer which bakes atop refrigerated butterscotch nut cookies. Before serving, cut into squares, triangles, or diamonds and add a special decorative touch to suit the occasion.

An updated version of a traditional favorite, Jewelled Thumbprints promise sure success with family and friends. To make, refrigerated sugar cookies dough is rolled in butter and nuts. While still warm from the oven, center with sparkling red or green jellies.

After the holidays are over, you'll want to keep these recipes close at hand, both promise to become cookie favorites at home and for special occasions throughout the year.

On the southeast coast of Latin America lies a vast expanse of rich soil known as the Argentine Pampas. Here sleek cattle graze on luxuriant grass, and beef is the undisputed king of the kitchen.

Steak is the staple diet in this land below the equator, and many Argentines consume it in one form or another three times a day.

Argentina has three main styles of cooking: Spanish from the days of the Conquistadores, classic French found in the more expensive hotels and restaurants of Buenos Aires and, most interesting, criolla or campfire cooking which dates back to pioneering times. It is here that the Indian influence which pervades nearly all Latin American cookery is most noticeable.

Incidentally, the widely held belief that Latin American cuisine was founded on spices so hot that they strangle the uninitiated, is largely legend, apparently spread by travelers whose experience was limited largely to the volcanic offerings of Mexico. The dishes of Argentina and other countries of Latin America, while amply seasoned, are generally no hotter than those of North America.

One sign of the Indian influence in Argentina is the widespread use of squash and pumpkin. Unlike U.S. citizens who use squash as an occasional dinner side dish or pie filling, the Argentines cook this rich, yellow vegetable in many ways, including squash soup, squash fritters and baked squash pudding.

Another Indian specialty popular in Argentina is Humitas, a baked corn casserole flavored with chopped onions, peppers, tomatoes, salt, sugar, peppers, paprika, milk and bread crumbs.

Evolutionist Charles Darwin visited Argentina and Uruguay in the 1830s and recalled a meal he shared with a gaucho band.

Darwin wrote in his "Voyage of the Beagle" that the supper "consisted of two huge piles, one of roast beef, the other of boiled, with some pieces of pumpkin. Besides this latter, there was no vegetable, not even a morsel of bread."

The Argentines have specialized in beef cookery for so long, that they know many ingenious ways of fixing it. A classic is the meat roll called Matambre, or "Kill Hunger." This it does, with its rich filling of eggs, vegetables, bacon and seasonings.

MATAMBRE

The Covering:
2 two-pound flank steaks
1 cup red wine vinegar
1 teaspoon garlic powder, or fresh chopped garlic
1 teaspoon dried thyme

The Stuffing:
1 pound fresh or frozen spinach
6 scraped whole carrots, about 6 inches long
4 hardboiled eggs, quartered lengthwise
2 or 3 medium onions, cut into thin rings
4 medium fresh mushrooms, sauteed in butter and sliced
1/4 cup freshly chopped parsley
1 teaspoon crumbled pequin chile peppers, or similar type
1 tablespoon salt
1 teaspoon ground pepper
3 cups canned beef stock, or fresh stock
12 ounces red wine
Bacon, optional 4 slices

Ask your butcher to slit the steaks horizontally from one long side to within 1/2 inch or other side.

Place steaks in glass baking pan, cover with the wine vinegar and sprinkle with the garlic and thyme. Let marinate for six hours at room temperature.

Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Lay the steaks cut side up and spread over with carefully washed spinach leaves. On top of spinach leaves, place carrots about three inches apart. Place eggs between rows of carrots. Scatter mushrooms, onion slices and bacon if desired. Atop this sprinkle parsley, chile peppers, salt and ground pepper.

Roll the steaks into two cylinders and tie with kitchen cord. Place in a 12 quart casserole and pour in beef stock and wine. Add enough cold water to bring liquid a third of the way up the rolls. Cover and place in oven for one hour.

When done, remove strings with sharp knife and cut rolled meat into 1/2 inch slices.

Leftover Matambre is good chilled and served as an appetizer.

4 Teams in UCCCC Tourney

STONE RIDGE, The UCCC Senators will defend their title against a field of four teams in the 1969 UCCCC Junior College basketball tournament. The four-team field has been selected for Ulster County Community College's Fourth Holiday Basketball Festival, Dec. 29-30, at the Kingston municipal auditorium.

Ulster is the defending champion, having beaten Long Island City in the 1967 finals. Trenton (N.J.) Junior College captured the 1966 inaugural tournament. Poughkeepsie, Hudson 1968 finals.

Tony Pough was tournament MVP in 1968. Jumpin' Joe Uhl of Ulster won the award in 1967 and Bob Sands of Trenton Junior was top man in 1966.

Hello Ollie - A Smash Hit

(By United Press International) Basketball fans in Houston were treated Wednesday night to another impressive performance of the city's newest hit show Hello Ollie.

The hero is Ollie Taylor, a 6-foot-2 jumping jack forward recruited off the playgrounds of New York, a breeding ground for basketball talent. Taylor's latest performance saw him pump in 29 points to give Houston a 91-76 upset over eighth ranked and previously unbeaten Santa Clara.

The triumph was the 20th straight this season, all at home in their new Hofheinz Pavilion. Houston jumped out to a quick 12-3 lead and was never headed. The deadly shooting of sophomore Jeff Hickman helped the Cougars open up a 48-35 advantage at halftime. Hickman hit on seven of eight shots in the final minutes before intermission, including a 40-foot jump shot at the buzzer.

Hickman finished with 18 who held a three point lead at 69, and the Wolfpack trimming Auburn, 76-69.

Jim McMillan tallied 35 points for Columbia as the Lions snapped Fordham's 25 game home winning streak. The Rams scored the first two points in the overtime period but that was all they got as Columbia reeled off the final 13, including four by McMillan, for its seventh win.

Cornell Five Notches First Victory

(By THE ASSOCIATE PRESS) Sophomore Tom Sparks sunk a layup with nine seconds left to give Cornell its first basketball victory of the season Wednesday in highlight update action.

Cornell edged the University of Rochester 61-59 while in other games Union dumped Drew 93-78, Plattsburgh beat New Paltz 75-79, Mohawk Valley CC topped Fulton - Montgomery CC 84-78 and Morrisville CC defeated Onondaga CC 115-100.

Rochester had led Cornell throughout the first half, holding a 31-24 edge at the half and widening that to 35-24 early in the second half.

The Big Red rallied, however, and Sparks brought them even at 32 all with eight minutes left. The score was tied three more times before Sparks tossed in the winner.

Bill Schwartzkopf led scoring for Cornell with 21 while Sparks and Glen Mueller each chipped in 14. Jackson Collins paced Rochester with 15.

In the North Country Plattsburgh held a narrow 34-32 lead at the half and then went on to dominate the remainder of the game for victory.

Doubleheaders will be played on successive nights to crown the tournament champion.

Dutchess Community is making a bid for Mid-Hudson Conference honors under the able tutelage of Coach El Evans.

The team is much improved this year over the 1968-69 edition. The Falcons scored an upset victory over Nassau Community, 92-90, and also defeated Concordia Junior College.

The leading players on the Dutchess team are Tom Carlo, a 6-foot-5 center; Manuel Matthews, 6-foot-3 forward; Tom Royce, Tony Jordan and Jerome Tucker.

Royce, a former Poughkeepsie High School star, led the Falcons in scoring last season. Tucker, who played high school ball at Beacon High, is the club's top rebounder.

Top Rated Tourney

The UCCC tournament is one of the highest rated in the region. Among the trophies awarded are first and second team, individual championship trophies, the All-Star team and Most Valuable Player.

The MVP is selected by the vote of a committee named by Coach Perry.

The tournament committee includes Mayor-elect Frank Koenig, Ed Palladino, Jim Massa, Ray Lindhorst Sr., John Beverly, Bill Van Aken, Harry Flowers and Wes Seche.

Atlanta Runs Into A Hail of Bullets

(By United Press International) The Atlanta Hawks cut down the New York Knicks one night but then ran into a hail of bullets.

There wasn't even any justice in having their top scorer net 44 points to take game honors. Lou Hudson just couldn't swing the tide alone.

A Baltimore trio of Jack Marin (30 points), Gus Johnson (29) and Earl Monroe (27) caught the Hawks sagging from a one-point overtime win over the Knicks the previous evening and gunned down Atlanta, 138-133, Wednesday night.

Baltimore, defending Eastern champion in the National Basketball Association, moved within 5 1-2 games of New York with the victory. The Bullets also maintained a 1 1-2 game edge over third place Milwaukee, which routed Boston 124-106, San Diego beat Detroit 114-107 and Seattle whipped Cincinnati 117-104 in other games.

It took a spectacular 44-point fourth quarter effort for Baltimore to stave off Atlanta's determined bid in the final period. The Hawks finished the last 12 minutes with 41 points.

Baltimore gained a 15-point lead in the first quarter and then spent the rest of the game holding off the Hawks. Baltimore led 63-59 at halftime but that margin was cut to 94-89 at the end of three sessions. Atlanta tied the score twice in the last half, but Baltimore again drew away.

Lew Alcindor tallied 29 points for Milwaukee and Flynn Robinson scored 27 as the Bucks snapped Boston's three-game winning streak. Henry Finkel led Boston with 23 points.

Detroit lost its fourth consecutive game when San Diego recovered from a 13-point deficit early in the game behind Jim Barnett's 21 points, seven of them in the last three minutes of the game. Jimmy Walker paced Detroit with 21 points.

Seattle rookies Lucius Allen and Lee Winfield guided the SuperSonics to victory over Cincinnati. Winfield was the key man in Seattle's full court press and Allen hit for 23 points.

Oscar Robertson had 28 points and Connie Dierking 26 for the Royals.

Pacers Hold On

John Barnhill and the Indiana Pacers are thankful today the American Basketball Association has three-point field goals.

Barnhill sank a three-pointer with six seconds left Wednesday night to give the Pacers a 101-100 victory over the Miami Floridians. Miami had appeared to wrap the game up when Willie Murrell hit two free throws with eight seconds to go.

The victory enabled the Pacers to stay 4 1-2 games ahead of Kentucky at the top of the ABA's Eastern Division standings. Kentucky defeated the Washington Caps 124-117 as Louie Dampier scored seven points within 63 seconds midway through the fourth period. Dampier finished with 32 points.

In other ABA action, the New Orleans Buccaneers beat the New York Nets 111-100 and the Los Angeles Stars, sparked by Willie Wise's key baskets, defeated the Carolina Cougars 105-98.

Three UCAL Games Head Friday's Basketball Slate

By MORT LAFFIN

KINGSTON
Three Ulster County Athletic League tilts top the action on Friday night's basketball slate, with two other area clubs meeting in a non-league encounter. On the UCAL schedule are: Marlboro at Rondout, Wallkill at Ontonago and Pine Bush at Highland. Other games include New Paltz at Ellenville in a non-league encounter, while Saugerties hosts Ketcham in a Dutchess County Scholastic League tilt. JV games begin at 6:30 p.m.

The Marlboro-Rondout clash pits two once-beaten quintets who are vying for the UCAL crown. Marlboro suffered defeat in the last four seconds at the hands of the high-flying Highland. 47-46. Rondout bombed New Paltz, 87-50, in their last outing.

Both teams figure this one to be a must game. The Ganders have started to get untracked after having lost their UCAL opener to the Indians of Ontonago. Pete Koola, Rondout's All-UCAL center, is one of the best all-around performers and leading scorers on the circuit.

Larry Baney, All-UCAL football player, is coming into his own as a hoopster and gives Koola more than enough help off the boards. Baney outscored Koola in their last game, 21-18. George Wallach also turns in a fine performance for Coach John Meehan's five.

Marlboro lost a heart-breaker to Highland as time ran out on Rich Gerentine's basket attempts. The Dukes will be looking to get back on the winning track. Jerry Stokes and Bob Wells do a fine job off the boards, while Rich Gerentine handles the outside scoring with John Woodward.

Pine Bush moves in to face Coach Dick Becker's Highland five. Becker's charges are in first place at 3-0 and are looking towards the crown.

The leaders are paced by John Crawford, Ron and Perry Monroe, Joe Cristaldi and Rich Sears. Crawford calmly sunk two charity tosses with four seconds at Marlboro to give the Highlanders their slender margin of victory. Hardy Marx and Perry Monroe did a fine job off the boards.

It may be interesting to note that Highland's football team was rolling along, undefeated, towards the football crown when they came up against Pine Bush. Becker will be hoping that history doesn't repeat itself.

Steve Kimmel, Dennis Gale and Ed Mercer will lead Ron Pape's Indians against Wallkill. Ontonago is beginning to look like a title contender should. Wallkill is tough but winless.

Saugerties, led by John Carnright and Bill Benham will be looking to gain their third win and a firm hold on first place in the DCSL when they meet Roy C. Ketcham of Wappingers Falls. The visitors are 1-1 in the league. Saugerties is 2-0.

New Paltz travels to Ellenville to face an ever-improving quintet with one of their own, Dan O'Byrne, Ray Zappone and Brad Hart do a fine job for the Huguenots.

AP-UPI Name Grant Pro Coach of Year

(AP) — If Harry "Bud" Grant had been, in his own words, "Good enough" as a professional basketball player, he might not have even gotten involved with professional football.

But Grant wasn't, at least in his own mind, so after two years in the National Basketball Association with the Minneapolis Lakers, he became a Philadelphia Eagle, later switched to Canadian football, became a coach and came back to the National Football League three years ago.

Grant, now coach of the Minnesota Vikings, was named Coach of the Year in the NFL by an overwhelming vote of a panel for The Associated Press.

The former basketball player received 42 full votes to two for his nearest competitor, Tom Landry, coach of the Dallas Cowboys.

Receiving one ballot each were Vince Lombardi of Washington, Blanton Collier of Cleveland and George Allen of Los Angeles. One vote was split three ways among Grant, Landry and Allen.

After earning his fourth letter in football at Minnesota, Grant joined the Lakers because "I as head coach when Allie Sherman could play pro basketball in man former New York Giants Minneapolis, which was my coach, left.

home, and my wife was pregnant, and besides pro football didn't pay very much in those days."

But after two years of sitting on the bench watching the great Laker quintet of that era, Grant decided to join the Eagles, who had drafted him No. 1 two years before.

He played for Philadelphia two years, earning All-Pro honors his first season as a defensive end and playing offensive end the second.

In 1954 he jumped to Canada to play for the Winnipeg Blue Bombers and in 1957 took over as head coach when Allie Sherman left.

In 1967, Grant, then 40, took over as head coach of the Vikings, succeeding stormy Norm Van Brocklin.

The Minnesota players call him the "quiet man" but they say he is a "great coach."

Grant, when informed of being named Coach of the Year, said his selection is "an honor that belongs to the team and the coaches together."

Wearing a purple Vikings cap and a sweatshirt while playing basketball in the University of Minnesota fieldhouse, Grant said, "I did nothing in particular. It is an honor given to a team with a 12-1 record in my name."

Grant was once before named Coach of the Year, in Canada, where his Blue Bombers won the conference title five times and the Grey Cup four times during his 10-year reign as head coach.

Also Named by UPI
Grant also won the United Press International poll for Coach of the Year by a landslide in the balloting by 48 experts around the league — three other coaches, Vince Lombardi of Washington, Tom Fears of Grant received 39 votes while New Orleans and Tom Landry George Allen of the Los Angeles of Dallas, received one vote Rams received six votes. Three each.

Ray's Rack Up 146

KINGSTON
Ray Chevrolet racked up the highest point total of the season to bury Yallum's, 146-51, in the YMCA Basketball League Wednesday night.

The 146 points amassed by Ray's is not a league record, but the 95-point spread between the two teams is believed to be a league mark.

In two games to date, Ray's (2-0) have piled up 263 points for an average of 130.5, believed to be the two highest scoring games in succession in YMCA league history.

Ray's turned the game into a shambles as early as the first period when it led 34-7. By halftime it was 74-14, proving again the gulf between the haves and have-nots in the Y is abysmal.

Miller Scores 42

Ron Miller poured in 42 points for Ray's tight five-man lineup for a new seasonal high. Mike Derrenbacher, the assistant UCCC coach, and Gary McDonald potted 29 each:

A Daily Freeman Survey Reveals

Adequate Medical Services at Area Football Games

(Editor's Note: This is the first of a two-part series dealing with medical services available at Ulster county high school games. Mort Laffin, sports staff reporter, talked with representatives of seven Ulster County schools to assemble material for the article.)

By MORT LAFFIN

A recent study conducted by the sports staff of The Daily Freeman reveals that area high schools provided more than adequate on-field medical attention for athletes competing in the various football programs this past season.

Seven high schools—Kingston, Ontonagon, Saugerties, Rondout, Marlboro, New Paltz and Highland—were polled by the sports staff and all of the schools' officials indicated that their respective schools are doing as much as possible, in this area, to protect the athletes on all levels of competition. It was also noted, from talking with the various athletic directors and principals, that the schools provide better-than-adequate insurance programs for the players, in the event that an injury occurs.

It is the intention of this series to show the public how this important, but near impossible task is accomplished by Ulster County schools.

Two-Part Series

The series will be broken into two parts. The first part will show what professional aid, doctors, ambulance crews, school nurses, etc., is provided by the schools for competing athletes. The second segment will delve into how coaches, teachers and other school administrators are trained to handle emergencies, when professional aid is not immediately available. It will also briefly point out what various insurance programs are available for students and athletes, particularly those engaged in football.

In answering a set of questions posed by The Daily Freeman sports staff, Bill Hurley, athletic director for Kingston Schools pointed out that a doctor is present at all tackle contests, on all levels of competition, varsity, junior varsity, freshman, etc.

"Dr. Irving Josephson is in attendance at all tackle contests," said Hurley, "from the varsity level on down. We also have an ambulance crew on call for all games. If, for any reason, Dr. Josephson cannot be in attendance, he arranges for another MD to take his place. He is our school physician and conducts all athletic physicals at the school."

Hurley went on to say other athletic events at the school are covered by professional aid.

Saugerties High School

Saugerties High School's Athletic Director, Fred Seither, gave pretty much the same information as Hurley.

"We insist that a doctor be on the premises for all varsity football contests," he said. "We also insist that a doctor be on call, if he can't be present for all other levels of competition. We also have an ambulance service that is at ready when we are playing at home. They are contacted previous to the games and are only a few minutes away. The school nurse is also usually in attendance or in the school proper during other football games," stated Seither.

John "Chick" Meehan, AD for the Rondout Valley Gander, feels that this aspect of sports is more important than the actual games.

"It is the policy at Rondout to have a doctor present at all tackle games, varsity and JV, with the school nurse in attendance at the junior high level, with a doctor on call. We also make sure that an ambulance crew is at the ready for all our games, if they are needed. We take no short cuts in the protection of our athletes and, I'm quite certain that all other ADs and coaches feel the same way as I do," he concluded.

Ontonagon High School

Ontonagon's Joe Friedel stated that the Indians try to provide for doctors in attendance and on call for as many athletic events as possible. He also pointed out that a school administrator is on hand for all afternoon and evening events.

"We have had a problem in the past," said Friedel, "due mostly to our location. There is no ambulance squad immediately located in Boiceville and they have to come from the surrounding townships. Also, the unavailability of doctors has sometimes put us in a bind, but by and large, we try to be adequately covered for all contests. The school board is constantly working to improve our situation in this respect," he concluded.

Atkins Feels Fortunate

Lem Atkins, athletic director and head football coach for Highland High School said that he felt very fortunate in his situation at Highland.

"We always have a doctor at all our home varsity games and we usually have one with us on the road. This is due, I think, to the avid interest that this individual has in Highland football. Of course, the doctor on the road isn't a necessity because all of our opponents have one in attendance, but it is a luxury that we greatly appreciate."

Atkins went on: "Dr. Carl Meekins, our school physician, travels with us and is at all our home games. This fine doctor has been an avid football fan for more than 40 years and has been a great help and comfort to us. We also have a doctor on call for our Jayvee and freshmen and junior high contests, along with the school nurse. And, we are only five minutes away from a hospital," he concluded.

New Paltz School's AD, Larry Johnson, echoed many of the sentiments and facts of his contemporaries. "We always have a doctor in attendance at all varsity home games. We also provide for additional aid for our other levels by having Medical Associates Service on call and the school nurse in attendance."

Take Every Precaution

"I feel," he went on, "that no stone should be left unturned when the health and safety of our youth is involved."

Paul Georgini, Supervising Principal at Marlboro, said that it was the custom for the Dukess to have a doctor in attendance at all contests.

"If a doctor cannot make it, we make sure that we have trained personnel at all our games. There is a new ambulance corps forming in the Marlboro area and they will be in attendance at all contact sports in the future. Along with this type of protection, we will place a doctor on call, if one cannot attend every event," he concluded.

All-in-all, it appears, from what the school officials have stated, that this area of athletic protection, is covered quite extensively by each school.

In the second segment of this series, we will try to show how the coaches and administrators themselves are trained for emergencies.

(To Be Continued)

Ref Who Had the Night Off

By United Press International.

Coach Emile Francis insists that his New York Rangers don't let down against Western Division rivals in the National Hockey League. But he can't say the same thing about the officials when East meets West.

Dave Balon scored twice in the last period Wednesday night to give the Rangers a 2-2 tie with the Philadelphia Flyers. The deadlock enabled New York to stretch its Eastern Division lead to three points over idle Boston, but after the game Francis was far from happy.

"If that's refereeing, I'm a monkey's uncle," Francis said about referee Vern Buffey. "He was just standing around all game doing nothing, then he called a crucial penalty (against Vic Hadfield of New York for tripping at 17:11 of the third period). He had a night off. He was letting everything go. Infractions could have been called all night, but he wasn't bearing down."

The Rangers are unbeaten against Western teams in 13 games, but until Balon's second goal with less than four minutes left, it looked like Philadelphia goalie Bernie Parent had the situation will in hand.

"Parent played a tremendous game," Francis said. "When these two teams play, you have the best goalkeepers in the league. He's the heart of that club. It only proves that every game is important whether it's East against East or East against West. You have to bear down all the time."

"It looked for awhile like the Rangers could get a hundred shots and not score," Philadelphia coach Vic Stasiuk said. The Rangers actually got off 48 shots on the goal compared to 20 for the Flyers.

Joe Watson and Lew Morrison scored in the first and second periods to give the Flyers a 2-0 lead.

Henri Richard scored twice, including a 35-footer in the second period that turned out to be the winning goal, as the Montreal Canadiens beat the Pittsburgh Penguins 5-2; veteran Earl Ingarfield tallied a pair of third-period goals to lift the Oakland Seals to a 3-1 victory over the Minnesota North Stars and the Los Angeles Kings got three goals in the final period to defeat the Chicago Black Hawks 3-1.

The Kings' provided new coach Johnny Wilson with his first victory and put on a rare display of fire power with 36 shots on goal. Eddie Shack tied the score 1-1 with a goal at 3:58 of the third period, and Jimmy Peters and Butch Goring each scored within the next eight minutes for the Kings' victory. Ingarfield, who has only three goals this season, scored twice for Oakland in the third period after the Seals' Gary Jarrett and Minnesota's Danny Grant had scored to tie the game 1-1.

State Track Tax Revenue Up $10 Million

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—Tax revenues from the state's eight harness and three flat tracks this year reached more than $163 million, a jump of $10 million from the same tracks last year.

The state's revenue from all racing sources totaled $163,006,074. Of this, $158,015,166 was in pari-mutuel taxes, including breakage; $3,490,500 from racing admissions taxes; $700,089 from uncashed winning tickets for the 1968 season; $702,000 in franchise fees from the State Racing Association, and $8,229 in miscellaneous receipts.

Betting at both flat and harness tracks in 1969 totaled $1.5 billion compared with $1.4 billion a year ago. During 359 days of racing, flat tracks produced $728 million in betting while harness tracks, during 1,633 days of racing, produced $810 million in betting.

Pari-mutuel taxes from flat tracks produced $77.8 million compared with $77.1 million for 1968. Harness tracks produced $80.1 million compared with $71.9 million.

There was one less day of flat track racing this year, while harness track racing increased by 62 days. Total attendance was 16.67 million compared with 16.52 million a year ago.

Brooks Robinson: Again Golden Glove

BOSTON (AP)—Brooks Robinson, becoming the only major league man in either league ever to record and tied another this lead at his position nine times, year in leading Baltimore's pen. His previous titles came in 1960, 1961, 1962, 1963, 1964, 1966, 1967 and 1968.

The slick-fielding third base to lead the league in that category tied with Washington's Ken Griffey for the seventh time. This McCullen at .976 for the best broke his own AL record for

See Ellis Leaving Before Peralta Go

NEW YORK (UPI)—Jimmy Peralta was wracked by Ellis may not stick around in Buenos Aires for his World Boxing Association heavyweight title defense against Gregorio Peralta on Saturday.

Ellis and his manager, Angelo Dundee, planned to leave Argentina for the United States on Friday night. Dundee's wife said Wednesday night. An official of the WBA also said he believed the bout had been called off.

Ellis has not defended his title since he won a disputed decision over Floyd Patterson 15 months ago in Sweden. He gained WBA recognition as champion by beating Jerry Quarry in the final bout of an eight-man tournament.

The match between Ellis and most years as leader and tied him with Ron Santo of the Chicago Cubs for the major league high.

Santo missed his chance of staying ahead of Robinson when he finished second in assists in the National League this year to Tony Perez of Cincinnati.

With Robinson and catcher Elie Hendricks leading the way, Baltimore topped the league by a wide margin in team fielding with a .984 average compared to 1981 for the runnerup Chicago White Sox. It was the fourth fielding title for the Orioles in the past seven years and only one point off their own major league record of .985 established in 1964.

Hendricks was No. 1 among the receivers with a .998 average.

Chicago was the only other team with two individual leaders in fielding averages. Ken Berry was one of 23 outfielders posting 1,000 averages and took the title on the basis of most total chances, 222. Tommy John headed a long list of pitchers with 1,000 marks and also took the crown via most chances with 82.

Rico Petrocelli of Boston took shortstop fielding honors for the second straight year with a .981 average. He also tied the American League record set by Phil Rizzuto in 1950 for fewest errors by a shortstop in a season, 14.

New York's Joe Pepitone led the first basemen for the third time in his career, edging Seattle's Don Mincher, .994 to .996. Dick Green of Oakland topped the second basemen for the first time with a .986 percentage.

Boston's Carl Yastrzemski led the outfielders in assists for the fifth time with 17, and Seattle's Wayne Comer was high in double plays with six.

In team double plays, Boston turned in 178 to edge Minnesota, which had 177.

The Double Duty Had Its Reward For Mel Renfro

NEW YORK (AP)—Mel Renfro did double duty last Saturday against Baltimore. In an effort to shake up the Cowboys' defense, Coach Tom Landry played Renfro at his normal free safety job for one half and moved him to a cornerback spot for the second half.

During the afternoon Renfro intercepted two more passes to run his season total to nine, high for the year in the National Football League. As a result, The Associated Press named Renfro the Defensive Player of the Week.

Renfro picked off one pass at the corner and the other at safety, as Dallas beat Baltimore 27-10.

"I really prefer the free safety position," said Renfro. "But we're trying to get ready for Cleveland (Dec. 28 Eastern Conference title game) so you do what's best for the team."

Vote Gabriel MVP

NEW YORK (AP)—Roman Gabriel, the sturdy Los Angeles Rams' quarterback who reached his peak in 1969, has been voted the Most Valuable Player in the National Football League by a 48-man panel of

Big Night For Nancy

NEW YORK (AP)—When Tom Seaver wins a baseball game, Nancy Seaver yells herself hoarse. When he gets an award, she cries.

"I feel like I'm part of the team," the striking blonde wife of the New York Mets' pitching hero said. "I'm what you'd call a professional bench-warmer."

The wonderful thing about Tom and me is that we share. When he has a bad day, he will want to talk it over with me. When he loses a game, he wants to rehash every pitch. When he wins, he's as happy as a boy with a toy."

Seaver, who won 25 regular season games and scored victories in both the National League playoff and the World Series in leading the New York Mets to their phenomenal world championship, received another of his many 1969 awards Wednesday.

He was named Sportsman of the Year by Sports Illustrated and was presented a replica of a Grecian urn dating back to 510 B.C.

Nancy, smart in a gray cashmere pants suit, a dangling red-white-and-blue scarf and her hair swept high on her head, was at Tom's side almost every moment of the festivities.

"There are two things I wouldn't jeopardize for the world," Tom said during the ceremony. "One is my marriage. The other is my baseball career."

"I told you not to cry," Tom admonished her affectionately right there in front of Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, Mrs. Joan Payson and a roomful of other distinguished guests.

writers and sportscasters for The Associated Press.

The 6-foot-4, 220-pound former North Carolina State passer led the Rams to the Coastal Division title with room to spare and was roaring toward an unbeaten season until upended by the Minnesota Vikings Dec. 7.

Gabriel received 21 full votes and a portion of another ballot that was split among Gabriel, Calvin Hill of Dallas and Joe Kapp of Minnesota.

Kapp, the man who helped engineer the Rams' defeat at the hands of the Vikings, was Gabriel's closest competitor with eight votes. Carl Eller, the Minnesota defensive end who leads the charge of the Purple Gang, was next with seven, an unusually high total for a defensive player.

Sonny Jurgensen, called by Washington Coach Vince Lombardi the greatest quarterback in the game, and perhaps ever, had four votes for his efforts in leading the Redskins to their best record since 1955.

Calvin Hill, the surprising Dallas rookie from Yale, also had four votes and a portion of a fifth.

Deacon Jones, veteran Los Angeles defensive end, Dick Butkus, the Chicago Bears' super middle linebacker, and Alex Karras, Detroit's fine defensive tackle, each had one.

The honors were won last year by Earl Morrall, who led Baltimore to the league title as a fill-in for the injured John Unitalia. Morrall used sparingly this year, did not get a vote.

Gabriel, an eight-year veteran, got his big chance in 1965 when Bill Munson suffered a knee injury. Gabriel refused to give the job back to Munson the following year. Eventually, Munson was traded to Detroit, leaving Gabriel in control.

Some knowing football people put Gabriel in the same class with Green Bay's Bart Starr in his mastery of ball control plays. In addition to throwing 23 touchdowns and completing 204 of 375 passes for 2,439 yards, Gabe also can take off with the ball.

He ranks third on the team as a rusher and has carried the ball into the end zone for five touchdowns.

Nixon's Goof Compared to A Palmer Miss

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A presidential goof on the origin of the national Christmas tree was compared Wednesday by Rep. Carleton J. King, R-N.Y., to golf star Arnold Palmer missing a putt.

King said President Nixon telephoned his regrets at having incorrectly identified the 65-foot spruce from Glens Falls, N.Y., as having come from the home county of his father in Ohio.

"Even Arnold Palmer misses a few putts now and then," the congressman told Nixon, who responded with laughter.

Nixon mistakenly identified the tree during a televised tree-lighting ceremony Tuesday night on the Ellipse. The official tree stands at the apex of a large V formed by 57 evergreen trees, each 12 feet tall, from eastern Ohio, which represents the states, territories and the District of Columbia.

King, who represents the Adirondack region in New York where the national Christmas tree grew for some 70 years, said "The President is only human and can make a mistake from time to time."

The towering tree decorated with tiers of red and white lights was donated by Glens Falls and cut from Crandall Park. A spokesman for King said it was sponsored by the Warren County Chamber of Commerce.

Abortion Approved By Health Committee

ALBANY, N. Y. (UPI) — The joint legislative committee on public health said today that the courts may act faster than the legislature in changing or repealing New York State's restrictive abortion law.

In its interim report, the committee said it recommended approval of the same abortion reform bill defeated by the state Assembly last session.

The bill would have permitted abortions when the physical or mental health of the mother or child was seriously jeopardized, when the pregnancy resulted from rape or incest or when the mother was under the age of 16.

"The committee calls attention to the fact that the former California abortion law, which limited legal abortions to cases necessary to save the life of the mother in the same manner as present New York law, had been stricken down by that state's highest court," the committee report said.

"The California Supreme Court held that the law violated the fundamental right of a woman to choose whether to bear children and the woman's right to life which is involved because the childbirth involves risks of death," the report said.

The committee, headed by State Sen. Norman F. Lent, R-East Rockaway, also noted that the District of Columbia has become the only jurisdiction in the United States in which there is no law in effect that forbids doctors to perform abortions, although 10 states have adopted "liberalized" abortion laws similar to the one proposed last year for New York State.

"In the meantime, the present New York State law, dating back to 1828, is being contested in federal district court," the committee said. "It may well be that the matter of abortion law reform has now been reduced to the academic question of whether the courts or the legislature act first."

Nyquist Orders Reinstatement Of Principal

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — State Education Commissioner Ewald Nyquist has ordered a school principal reinstated next fall after his school board demoted him on charges of plagiarism.

Nyquist acted in the case of Francis J. Mercer, principal of the Sweet Home Central Elementary School in Amherst, near Buffalo. The local board assigned him to teaching duties earlier this year.

Nyquist said the penalty was too severe for the charge. Mercer will be paid this year as a teacher, not as a principal.

The issue was a manual Mercer said he and a committee had written. The board found the manual had been copied almost word for word from one prepared by a neighboring school district.

Mercer used "extremely poor judgment," Nyquist said, but added the penalty was too severe.

In a related matter, Nyquist noted that several persons have petitioned the State Education Department charging the school boards have failed to deal with teacher morale problems.

The board had sought the dismissal of the petitions saying the education law does not provide grounds for the teacher action.

Nyquist agreed that the teachers cannot seek legal relief, but urged the board to remedy the problem.

"Such disharmony," Nyquist said, "has an adverse effect upon the efficiency with which a district functions, and on the learning processes of children entrusted to the board and to the instructional staff."

The actions were brought after Mercer's demotion and several other problems arose between teachers and the school board.

Dear Abby

Workers Resent Gift

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
(© 1969 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I'm just a poor working stiff (office job) with a big company, and I mean really BIG.

Today I received an inter-office memo informing me that all the employees were getting together to "BUY THE BOSS A BUICK."

Now, the boss needs somebody to buy him a Buick like I need another head. Furthermore, I think it's a cheap trick to put the arm on all the employees this way.

So what's a guy supposed to do? If I refuse it's sure to get back to the boss, and you know what will happen to me.

If I go along with it (which is probably the only thing I can do) I will hate myself. Got any advice?

DEAR STIFF: If there are other "working stiffs" in your organization who share your feelings (and there must be), why don't you quit griping, and DO something about it?

DEAR ABBY: Our son who is 18 and in the Navy spent several months training in a distant state. During the last two months there he met a girl and spent every week-end with her. When he came home on leave he informed us that he was going to marry her within two weeks! Needless to say, we were shocked because she is only 17.

He is due to go overseas soon for at least a year, so we suggested they become engaged until they were sure of their feelings. It was then that he told us that they couldn't wait because she was pregnant.

After some questioning, he told us that he's not really sure she is pregnant, but she "thinks" she is. Also he is not really sure that he is the father, as she's dated several other service men that he knows, but she says he's the one.

Our son told us that the girl doesn't get along with her parents and is very eager to get away from home.

I do not condone our son's actions, but if he is responsible for this girl's condition he should certainly face up to his responsibility. Still, how does one really know under the circumstances if it's really his responsibility? Can you advise us?

WORRIED PARENTS
DEAR PARENTS: First, your son needs legal counsel. And the chaplain on his base will be helpful, too. No young man should jump into marriage under any circumstances — especially the one you describe.

DEAR ABBY: This is for "TROUBLED," who married a homosexual. Abby, I'm glad you pointed out that he was "BISEXUAL," because any man who can go back and forth between both sexes is "bi"—not "homo."

Well, I married a man like that and I'm the happiest woman alive. I accept my husband's past and even kid him about the type of men "we" like.

I am sure he would never go with another man again for the same reason I wouldn't. Neither one of us would want to hurt the other by an act of infidelity.

So to that woman who is "troubled" because her husband had a man in his past, let me say this: Take pride, my dear, that of all the women and MEN that all the women and MEN know, he chose YOU! Sign this . . .

CONFIDENTIAL TO BETH: Tell your husband you want a washer-dryer for Christmas.

Hear Dear Abby Mon. thru Sat. at 9:10 a.m., WKNY, 1490.

GOODBY, PONY TAIL: (Q) My hair is long and dark and I always wear it in a pony tail. Now I want to change. I've tried some new styles, but they didn't work at all. Can you give me some suggestions?—Tired of My Pony Tail in California.

(A) A pony tail is one of the most attractive hairdos a young girl can have. It's easy, too. It's so easy that changing to a more mature and demanding hair style can be a lot of work.

On a recent visit to London I saw a clever new cut at Vidal Sassoon's that looked like it would be easy to keep. It was short, brushed away from the face, unset, thick cut, with a long, free neckline. It was a really beautiful silhouette.

I believe a style of this sort would suit you. You would need a good stylist to do the first cutting and to trim it back to shape from time to time.

DAD TROUBLE: (Q) My father is so stupid. He only went to the sixth grade. I'm already in the seventh. He jokes about my being fat. I can't talk to him or my mother either. When I get into fights with my brother they beat me—with belts, fists, or anything they can find.

I am supposed to study every night because when my brother was younger he had to study hard to get by. He's 18 now. One night I went to sleep with the TV on and didn't wake up till midnight. My father took the TV out of my room—it was mine—and gave it to my brother.

I do all the work at home while my father and brother sit around. What can I do?—Mistreated in Detroit.

(A) Your father should not make fun of you or be unfair to you, but because of his background he may not realize this. Be as understanding as you can and as friendly as you can with him.

At the same time try to eat as few sweets and heavy foods as you can, and get lots of exercise. This will trim you down and make you look more mature.

Your father can understand this manly look even if he doesn't understand your mental growth. The mere process of growing up will help, too.

Soon, I hope, you will be to the point where he can talk with you and he pals with you in a man-to-man way, as he is now with your brother.

THE TREASURE THAT WAS LOST BECAUSE OF BLIND OBEDIENCE TO ORDERS

A SPANISH FLEET COMPRISING 19 GALLEONS ATTACKED BY AN ANGLO-DUTCH FLEET IN THE HARBOR OF VIGO, SPAIN, LOST ITS CARGO OF $25,000,000 IN GOLD BECAUSE THE COMMANDING OFFICER REFUSED TO DISOBEY HIS ORDERS TO DELIVER THE GOLD TO THE CITY OF CADIZ.

THE TREASURE COULD HAVE BEEN LANDED SAFELY AT VIGO, BUT THE ANGLO-DUTCH FLEET CAPTURED 9 GALLEONS AND $500,000 AND THE SPANIARDS SCUTTLED THE OTHER SHIPS—WHICH STILL LIE IN THE HARBOR UNDER 15 FEET OF MUD WITH A CARGO OF $20,000,000 (1702).

NEW YORK (AP) — "Hee Haw" returned to CBS Wednesday night with all the characters and jokes that made the program a summer-season hit. The question, which only time can answer, is whether the barnyard humor that charmed the hot-weather audience bored by reruns will exert the same fascination at another season. Most attractive aspect of the show is its music. The beat was infectious and the tunes attractive. There was even a song with off-beat lyrics, "Okie From Muskogee," sung by Merle Haggard and Buck Owens, who has an interesting singing style, are the stars of the show. They are sure to be standing in the middle of a cornfield when they tell them.

Roy Clark, who is more interesting when he is playing the guitar than when clowning, and Billy Graham (C) are also featured. The program has been called, off and on, a long list of plugs and credentialed like an enthusiastic studies.

At least, "Hee Haw" is non-dio audience laughing at its old. The whole proceeding seemed awkward and more like a stunt than a wedding. Carson's usual commercial breaks, during the last half hour of the "Tonight Show," it is doubtful that the fast-moving as usual.

The ceremony itself, in spite of some unfamiliar vows, including the advance exploitation and ing a pledge "not to be puffed publicity, had a certain amount up." Carson explained later that the couple walked briskly a few selves had done a little rewrite to one side, into Johnny ing of the ceremony.

Some declarers rush to play to the first couple of tricks. Sometimes this does not hurt. Many other times a little early thought would have saved a headache later.

South was one of the early thinkers, and a slow one. He looked over dummy for a long time and finally let the queen of clubs hold the first trick. He won the second club and promptly led a spade to his ace.

Most defenders sit around and woolgather while declarer goes into an early huddle. Woolgathering may be fine if you are in the sheep business. It is a losing proposition at the bridge table.

West knew this and had been thinking along with South. West's thoughts had not been
